China Hurls Defiant 'No' At Protests

Peiping Shuns Yankee Pleas For 13 Fliers; Dulles Books Address

WASHINGTON (AP)—Communist China's defiant refusal to free 13 American airmen held as spies continued today as the United States gave the ultimatum to the Chinese government to release the prisoners.

With the Chinese government's refusal to free the airmen, the United States today rejected an American proposal to let the prisoners go in exchange for the release of American civilians held in China.

But the Chinese government, reporting the Red Chinese regime is "not acceptable," said the Red Chinese government is "not acceptable."

The British government, reporting the Chinese government is "not acceptable," said the Chinese government is "not acceptable."

The U. S. government's next move remained an open question, as State Department officials reported "all appropriate measures are being considered."

Secretary of State Dulles was scheduled for a major foreign policy speech tonight in Chicago and it seemed likely he would touch on the potentially explosive Far Eastern situation. Dulles' speech at 10:30 p. m. (EST) is to be both broadcast and telecast.

President Eisenhower may have marked out the bounds for American action in this case when he used the phrase "within peaceful means" last week in assuring the mother of one of the imprisoned men that the United States is doing everything possible to win their freedom.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader in the Senate, sounded a call Saturday for direct action.

Mongrel Puppy Saves Ohio Family

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—Until yesterday, a mongrel puppy named Lady never could get over the three foot barricade her master made to keep her in the cellar at night.

Then, early in the morning, Lady smelled smoke. Somehow the three-month-old dog, standing only a foot tall, scrambled over the barricade and bounded upstairs.

There she whined and tugged at the pajamas of two children until she succeeded in awakening them. The children, Roseann, 6, and Charles, 5, aroused their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wilson, and their little sister, Alice Mary, 2. Wilson led his family and Lady outside and called firemen.

McCarthy Asks For Debate End Wednesday Afternoon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy proposed today that the Senate end its debate on his special censure session, put aside for 11 days to let McCarthy undergo treatment for an injured elbow.

McCarthy said the pending censure charges against him boil down simply to the accusation that "I have used discourtageous and offensive words."

"I admit that at times I have been tremendously blunt in expressing my opinions," McCarthy said. "I do not claim to be a master of words."

"This being true, I say to those who feel they have been offended, that I had no intention in the words that were used of hurting the feeling of anyone—but in the facts and opinions that I held, I am unchanged."

The dramatic McCarthy statement came as a new charge was ready for filing against him.

Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) prepared the new accusation. Two censure counts already have been recommended by a special bipartisan committee.

Bennett's charge is based on McCarthy's attacks on the special committee and its chairman, Sen. Watkins (R-Utah).

Bennett's new charge sets out that McCarthy accused the Watkins committee of acting as the "unwitting handmaiden," "involuntary agent" and "attorneys-in-fact" of the Communist party and of imitating Communist methods in its report recommending he be censured.

These charges of McCarthy's were made in a speech which he never delivered but which he inserted in the Congressional Record after giving copies to the press.

Bennett's resolution also declares that McCarthy described the special Senate session as a "lynch party" and a "lynch bee."

Meanwhile, nations within the Soviet orbit gathered in Moscow to take "immediate measures" to assure their "security."

The conference is expected to pave the way for formal inclusion of East Germany in the Communist military system as a counter to the Western agreements to rearm West Germany within the North Atlantic Alliance.

Delegations from East Germany and Poland arrived in Moscow Saturday, and those from Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Albania arrived yesterday.

Heading the Soviet delegation is Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, assisted by Deputy Foreign Minister Gromyko and Zorin.

In originally inviting 24 countries to the parley and proposing that it be held in either Paris or Moscow, the Soviets frankly aimed at preventing ratification of the Paris pact to rearm West Germany within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Molotov first suggested on Nov. 13 that the 25-nation conference be held Nov. 29. A week later he offered to set a later date and warned that rejection of his proposition would force Soviet Union and her allies to take countermeasures for their own security.

Lad, 17, Admits Shooting Stepdad

IRONTON (AP)—Sheriff Carl E. Rose says a 17-year-old boy has admitted a shotgun shooting which left the youth's stepfather in grave condition today in a hospital here.

Sheriff Rose said Ronald Baldwin, 17, signed a statement saying he fired a 12-gauge shotgun at George Nance, 38, of nearby Kitts Hill, because Nance was abusing Baldwin's mother. Baldwin's statement said also Nance threatened him with a knife prior to the shooting last night at the home of Nance, a foundry worker.

Cold From Canada Pours Over Nation

CHICAGO (AP)—Cold air moving in from Canada brought rain, snow and blustery winds to much of the country today.

Temperatures were down 5 to 22 degrees since yesterday over a wide area from the Ohio Valley southwestward across the central and south plains. The cold extended to the southern Rockies and parts of the Southwest.

At Las Vegas, Nev., early today it was 43, compared to 65 at the same time yesterday. Rawlins, Wyo., reported two below zero and Laramie, Wyo., three above.

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—A recount of the disputed Senate election continued today in six New Jersey counties, with the net gain for Democrat Charles R. Howell at 66 votes so far.

Howell hopes to overtake the apparent victor in the Nov. 2 election—Republican Clifford P. Case, whose lead now stands at 3,303. Originally, Case led by 3,369 votes. Howell's net gain of 66 came after 451 of the 1,192 voting districts in the six counties were rechecked.

SLIGHTLY UNCOOPERATIVE shorthorn calf, Duke, is tugged to his pen by Tommy Fishbie, 7, of Forrester, Ill., the youngest exhibitor in Chicago's 55th International Livestock exposition, largest farm show in the world. Fayette Countian Involved In Hassle Over 'Corn King'

CHICAGO (AP)—Judges at the International Livestock Exposition will try to pick a corn king for the second time today after a hassle in which the first choice was disqualified.

Two brothers, Arnold and Paul Karsk, of Pecatonica, Ill., held the corn crown briefly Sunday.

After their 10-year sample of DeKalb 822 variety corn was chosen as the best among hundreds entered, a comic-opera situation of quick changes ensued. Two exhibitors complained that some kernels appeared to have been glued on an ear of corn.

At first, the five judges said their choice would be unchanged. Then they reversed themselves and decided to disqualify the Karsk brothers. For a short time it appeared the championship would be given to the reserve champion, Willard C. Kirk, 48, of Jeffersonville, Fayette County, Ohio, the 1951 corn king.

BUT OFFICIALS again changed tack and decided to judge the entire corn show all over again.

The Karsk brothers, Paul, 67, and Arnold, 64, were not on hand when their corn sample was picked as the best, but reached by telephone at their farm home, both blamed the disqualification on "politics."

Arnold Karsk admitted he had glued several kernels into two ears of corn after they had fallen out.

U.S. Churches Eye Strength But Question Actual Power

BOSTON (AP)—American churches were pictured today as standing at a peak of "tremendous strength" but at the same time groping uncertainly for ways to make that power felt in a topsy-turvy age.

Enormous, swift changes in social patterns and "dangerous moral conditions" challenge the effectiveness of the churches, said a key report to the biennial assembly of the National Council of Churches.

Despite Christianity's gains "in institutional strength," the report said, there is a disturbing question whether churches are "more or less influential in American life" than they used to be.

The report was for presentation to 2,500 representatives of 30 Protestant and Orthodox denominations assembled here to seek new methods for reinforcing their fraternity of faith.

"When we consider how little it costs to be counted among the church members in our country, we are troubled," the report said.

"THE AVERAGE church member is not conspicuously different from the average nonmember. The average church is so much conformed to the world that people are surprised if it sharply challenges the prevailing behavior of the community."

Herald Coupon Tally Ends In Big Landslide

171 Readers Back Senator's Stand; Only 15 Opposed

Pickaway County residents have given Senator Joseph R. McCarthy a landslide vote of confidence in his current controversy in Washington.

Through a coupon printed in The Herald, readers were invited to vote "yes" or "no" on the question: "Should Senator McCarthy be cleared on the current censure charges?"

Following a seven-day waiting period to insure a true cross-section of reader sentiment, the votes were tallied Monday. Of the total signed coupons on hand by that time, 171 favored McCarthy and only 15 were opposed to the senator's stand.

The margin in favor of McCarthy, demanding that he be cleared of the censure charges proposed against him in the Senate, became evident almost as soon as the readers began returning their filled-in forms.

BEFORE LAST week's Thanksgiving holiday, readers were given a reminder on the vote being taken. And the response since that time was a still wider margin in favor of the senator.

A number of readers added specially made ballots to the regular coupons, a privilege that was made clear while the vote was in progress.

In the case of one mailed response, one whole neighborhood appeared to have joined in casting votes for McCarthy. An even dozen ballots in his favor, each with its own signature, were received in the one envelope.

Many readers also added comments in support of their votes. Typical of these was the following notation attached to a woman's ballot:

"I think Senator McCarthy was trying to do what he thought was right. When they were on television some time ago (the McCarthy Army hearings) I watched it all the way through. And my opinion is he wants to do what is best for us all."

Second Huge Ohio Power Generator Due

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—Tentative plans for a second huge electric generating plant in southeastern Ohio were announced today.

The Ohio Power Co. said it is acquiring 650 acres along the Ohio River at Hanging Rock, five miles downstream from Ironton, as the site of a future million-kilowatt generating plant. The plant will be built "when the demand for electric service calls for additional expansion of our facilities," said Philip Sporn, president of the Ohio Power Co.

Ohio Power officials say when the new steam generating plant goes up it will rank with the biggest in the world.

A new power plant now under construction at Cheshire, near Gallopis, is of the same capacity—a million kilowatts. It is being built, along with another of 1,200, 000-kilowatt capacity at Madison, Ind., to serve the Pike County atomic energy plant.

There was no word as to what new industry might be expected.

Dow Chemical Co., however, purchased several hundred acres downstream from the Hanging Rock site two years ago and has been experimenting with salt brine found in quantity underground.

Dow officials said last week they have no immediate plans for the site near Hanging Rock.

First units of the Cheshire and Madison plants are scheduled to go into operation early next year.

Adenauer Presses Fight For Treaty

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer pressed forward today in his fight to rivet West Germany to the Atlantic Alliance after parrying a determined challenge to German rearmament in two state elections.

The chancellor's Christian Democratic Union lost ground in yesterday's voting in Bavaria and Hesse but held control of the Bavarian state government. This insured the Adenauer regime's retention of its two-thirds majority in the upper house of the federal parliament whose members are named by the states.

action against the Chinese Reds—a naval blockade. One of the possible countermeasures reported under study at the State Department was said to involve such a blockade, but diplomatic informants said they found little evidence of support for the idea.

Ultimately, this country's policy in this situation probably will be determined by the President and the National Security Council.

Eisenhower, at Augusta, Ga., for the Thanksgiving holiday weekend, made no comment on Knowland's blockade suggestion. But there were indications the President might have something to say on the matter of the jailed Americans after he returns to Washington. He was due back here late today.

Knowland declared the United States has a moral obligation to "use more than words to protect Americans abroad." He called for the blockade to try to force release of 13 Americans jailed on "trumped-up" spy charges.

White House Press Secretary James Hagerty said Eisenhower would have no comment "at this time" on Knowland's proposals. Nor was there any comment now on pleas from the captives' relatives and others for more than "perfunctory demands."

Hagerty's emphasis on the phrase "at this time" suggested the President is preparing to speak out later.

A city Civil Service examination has been set for Dec. 13 to provide eligible lists for both city police and fire departments.

The tests will be held at 7 p. m. in the city council chamber on the second floor of the city building.

Applications may be obtained from the clerk of city court or from Tom Renick, Vernon Hawkes or Luther Bower, members of the local Civil Service commission. These papers must be filled in and returned by 4 p. m. Dec. 10.

Those applying for firemen must be resident voters of Circleville. Police applicants must be resident voters of Pickaway County. Both must be between the ages of 21 and 31.

Applications will be available on Thursday, Dec. 2.

McCarthy Asks For Debate End Wednesday

accused three of the censure committee members of "deliberate deception" and "fraud" and called Watkins "cowardly" and "stupid."

These actions of McCarthy's, the resolution states, "are all contrary to go moral and senatorial ethics and tend to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute, to obstruct the constitutional processes of the Senate, and to impair its dignity."

"Such conduct," Bennett's resolution adds, "is hereby condemned, and the senator from Wisconsin is therefore censured."

The Senate session was abruptly called off 11 days ago after McCarthy went to Bethesda Naval Hospital for treatment of an injured elbow.

He said the elbow was hurt when a well-wisher, ardently shaking hands, banged it against a glass table top.

McCarthy emerged from the hospital yesterday with his right arm in a sling, saying it was still painful but he was feeling "very well."

McCarthy and his supporters have denied right along any intentions, suggested by opponents, of delaying things so there could be no vote before the present session automatically ends Christmas Eve. The Senate had seemed near the voting stage when McCarthy went to the hospital.

Republican Leader Knowland of California this weekend called on the Senate to reach a decision by Dec. 11, saying he believed there was "a growing demand" for the Senate to dispose of the issue and turn to the consideration of what "more important" matters.

A rally in support of McCarthy is scheduled for tonight in Madison Square Garden, New York.

The event was organized by a group known as "Ten Million Americans Mobilizing for Justice" as a climax to its campaign for 10 million signatures on petitions opposing Senate censure.

Chairman and keynote for the gathering will be Maj. Al Williams, noted speed flier.

The rally sponsors have predicted an overflow attendance of 22,000 persons and the New York Police Department has assigned 400 men to the rally.

Editor-Slayer Strolls Out Of Ohio Pen

COLUMBUS (U)—The man who assassinated Don R. Mellett, crusading editor of the Canton Daily News in the 1920s, made his second escape from the Ohio Penitentiary yesterday by calmly walking past two guards.

Patrick McDermott, 55, joined a party of departing visitors and walked out of a penitentiary honor dormitory in what officials indicated was a well-planned escape.

An automobile which pulled up to the prison just as McDermott walked out with an attractive woman, whisked him away.

McDermott was convicted of murdering Mellett the night of July 16, 1926. The Canton editor was shot down as he put his automobile in a garage at his home. Trial testimony developed that McDermott was sent to Canton by a Massillon man to "beat up an editor."

The shooting of Mellett climaxed a Daily News editorial campaign against police protection allegedly given vice operations.

McDermott crawled over the roof of the warden's residence in front of the penitentiary in 1929 and slid to the ground on a rope. He was recaptured the next day.

When asked how McDermott could stroll past the guards yesterday, Warden Ralph W. Alvis said:

"He just got by them. They should have recognized him."

Alvis said he didn't know whether the woman he walked out with was part of the escape plot or "had been used innocently." The visitor registered as Nancy Mack and gave a false Columbus address.

Sunday Blaze Nearly Ruins Watt-St. Home

A fire Sunday morning caused an estimated $500 damage to a Circleville house and a similar amount to the household furnishings.

The blaze gutted the three-room dwelling of Roy Quigley, which is located in the rear of 455 Watt St. City firemen were at the scene for 45 minutes.

Fire Chief Talmer Wise said Quigley had been in the process of moving. One load of furniture had been removed from the house, but when Quigley returned the fire had been turned on while the moving was taking place.

Firemen discovered the stove had already burned through the floor.

The fire, reported at 11 a. m., required the use of the fire department's big 2 1/2-inch line plus booster lines.

Ailing Pope Pius Confined To Bed

VATICAN CITY (U)—Pope Pius XII has been confined to his bed and placed on a strict diet. This precaution was taken in the hope of quickly restoring the strength of the ailing 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church.

While Vatican sources emphasized there was no cause for undue alarm, the attitude of the Vatican secretary of state's office was described as "neither too pessimistic nor too optimistic."

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Willard H. (Bill) Rohrer, 58, died last week in Dayton Veterans Hospital.

He was born April 17, 1896 in Pickaway County, the son of Lawson and Mae C. Rohrer. His father survives him.

Mr. Rohrer enlisted in the Ohio National Guard in 1916. He served as part of the Circleville unit with the famed 16th Infantry Regiment of the 24th (Rainbow) Division in World War I.

Besides his father, who lives in Darbyville, survivors include: two sons, Richard, of Columbus, and William, of New York; two daughters, Bonnie, of Detroit, Mich., and Betty Mae, of Florida.

One sister, Mrs. Audrey Boysel, of Circleville Route 3; three brothers, Leo and Fobes, of Darbyville, and Stanley, of Ashville. His mother and two other brothers preceded him in death.

Friends and relatives may call at the Gossnell Funeral Home, in Columbus, until 10 a. m. Tuesday. Burial will be in Union Cemetery.

40 Penney Co. Employees Here Get Good News

Nearly 40 local employees received the good news Monday when the J. C. Penney Company, nationwide department store organization, announced its traditional year-end payment to the firm's personnel.

The announcement came from the company's New York offices. The board of directors authorized the special payment for more than 50,000 associates in the company's 1,639 stores, offices and warehouses throughout the United States.

The payment will be an amount equal to two weeks' pay for all full-time associates who have been employed for the full year of 1954, and proportionate amounts for extra and part-time associates and those employed less than a year.

George Fuhrman, manager of the J. C. Penney Store in Circleville, said the payment will be made Dec. 15.

"THE ANNOUNCEMENT" comes at a time when we are highly optimistic about the holiday buying activity," he said. "It looks as though we're in for one of the best Christmas seasons we have ever had. The people here are really shopping."

All Penney associates will share in the payment except management staff members whose earnings are determined largely by the company's long-standing profit-sharing plan.

In a letter to the firm's associates, A. W. Hughes, president, said the payment was based upon the company's results for 1954.

"We are particularly happy to be able to make this payment as a result of what has been accomplished this year," he said. "The possibility of future payments of course will continue to depend upon year to year results."

The payment is in addition to regular company provisions for associates' benefits, including sick benefit, gratuity, death and dismemberment benefit, Thrift and Profit-Sharing Fund plans, discounts on company purchases and others.

Columbus Family Of 4 Wiped Out

WABASH, Ind. (U)—Four members of a Columbus, Ohio, family died when their single-engine plane crashed in hilly, wooded country southwest of here yesterday.

The four, who were returning from a Wisconsin vacation, were identified by state police as Henry Markiewicz, 39, his wife, Josephine, 37, and their two daughters, Elaine, 16, and June, 11.

Markiewicz was secretary-treasurer of the Columbus Stamping Co.

A widow, Mrs. Schelm is also a newspaper woman, part owner of the Atlantic News-Telegraph, and a linotype operator.

Citizens Committee Will Be Selected

An appearance by Dr. R. M. Eymann, state superintendent of public instruction, will highlight an important meeting, here Tuesday night.

The gathering is for the purpose of naming a citizens committee to study the county school situation. This is required by law in all the counties in Ohio.

The committee will conduct a survey with an eye to possible merging of school districts. Therefore, the meeting, which will take place at 7:30 p. m. in Common Pleas Courtroom, is considered of major importance to all local taxpayers.

Right To The Point

RICHMOND, Va. (U)—The Richmond Public Library asked city departments to save their pencil stubs for library purposes. Librarians were puzzled, however, when they received a quart of short pencil stubs from an anonymous donor in Fulton, N. Y., a few days after the request.

Motorist Injured, Pinned Inside Car

A Nelsonville motorist suffered fractured ribs in a Sunday accident just inside Pickaway County.

H. O. Redman, 57, drove into a ditch after hitting another car on Route 56, one mile south of the Madison-Pickaway County line. The other driver, Rhoda Tootle, 77, of Mt. Sterling, was not hurt.

Deputy Sheriff Carl Radcliff and Mt. Sterling Officer Joe Smith report that Redman was going north. He passed one car before the accident. The driver of that car, Robert Connell, of Lancaster, said all he saw was the rear end of Redman's car "fly up into the air" before the auto went into the ditch.

Redman said he applied his brakes when he saw Mrs. Tootle's car attempting to make a left turn from the opposite direction. He was pinned inside of the car and another auto had to be used to pry the door open.

Draft Office Closed

Pickaway County's selective service office will be closed Wednesday through Friday this week. The office is located on the second floor of the county court house.

1954 Toy Tour To Take Place Thursday Night

Circleville's 1954 Toy Tour will be conducted Thursday night under sponsorship of the Hall-Adkins Post American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps.

Corps members, divided into three groups, will canvass the city, beginning at 7:30 p. m. In collecting toys for the needy of the area, the corps has asked that no broken toys be given. No repair facilities are available.

The city has been divided into three sections with one unit of the corps covering each one. The corps also requests that donations be ready for pickup when the tour begins.

A suggestion to aid the corps is that porch lights be turned on in homes having toys to be donated. This will aid the corps in their one-night effort as a community service.

The toys will be distributed to the needy on Dec. 24, the day before Christmas.

Hal Boyle Says:

Widow Is Bachelor's Dream

NEW YORK (AP)—Madame Olry Roederer is the kind of widow that bachelors dream of meeting. She is blonde, hazel-eyed, warmhearted and highly cultured. She has a mellow, mature beauty that French ladies achieve and wear so well in their middle years. She also has a fine, well-developed sense of humor.

No, Mme. Roederer doesn't own a liquor store. This must be admitted. But, on the other hand, she does have something just as good — five million bottles of champagne. She also has a stable of 120 trotters, and her horses in recent years have been among the biggest money winners in France.

Since the death of her husband in 1932, this pert and vivacious widow has successfully managed the champagne firm of Louis Roederer of Reims and the famous harness racers of "The Stables of the Red Earth."

Mme. Roederer is no figurehead in the 189-year-old champagne firm which ships its vintage products to the courts of Sweden, Denmark, Norway, Ethiopia, Greece and Britain.

In the firm's 3 1/2 miles of caves at Reims are stored five million bottles of champagne, none of which is sold until it is at least five years old.

Mme. Roederer, who can taste and accurately name the major brands of champagne while blindfolded, gives the final voice in the selection of a cuvee, the blending of 1,000 choice casks before the actual bottling.

She has found that being a woman is no handicap in operating a champagne firm.

She spends the week at Reims, the weekends in Paris, where she takes an active role in selling her champagne to the top restaurants

and nightclubs in the French capital.

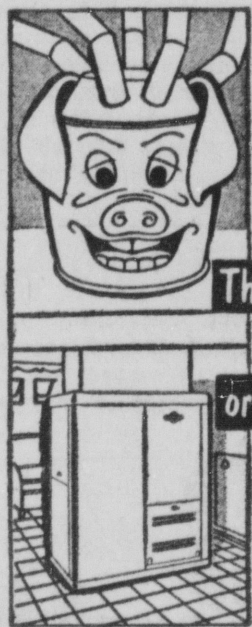

Her interest in the export business brought her here for her first tour of America, just completed. She was accompanied by her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Claude Rouzaud, and the doctor's brother, Andre Rouzaud, who, at 35, is managing director of the champagne firm.

Mme. Roederer found San Francisco the most European-looking of American cities. She was scheduled to tour some California vineyards, but became too fatigued. Asked how California champagne compared with her own product, she hesitated and

Pennsy Home Fire Kills 5

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A flash fire, started by the explosion of a kitchen stove, took the lives of a 93-year-old great-grandmother and four sleeping children at their home in nearby West Newton.

The fire Saturday night killed Mrs. Fanny Taylor, who was caring for her five great-grandchildren while their parents were out. The dead children were Lester Moore, 5, and Catherine, 4, Marlene, 3, and James Brownlee, 18 months old. All were Negroes.

Carl Moore, 9, was awakened by the blast and jumped to safety from the window of the second-story apartment.

An uncle, David Pryor, ran upstairs in a vain rescue attempt. He told firemen a wall of flame cut him off from the room.

CITIZEN ARMY

COURT-MARTIAL of a second lieutenant for allegedly mistreating a group of trainees at Camp Gordon, Georgia, points up the Army's perennial encounter with the discipline bugaboo. The underlying principle in U. S. military doctrine is that discipline be based on respect, not wrought from fear. However, the military has lots of deputies interpreting its doctrine. As the present situation suggests, an overzealous subaltern can sometimes offset the prudent behavior of generals.

The wheels of military justice are constantly turning on discipline matters, with only the more spectacular coming to the attention of the public at large. Such publicity is one of the best safeguards for a nation rooted to the tradition of a citizens' army. In European countries where the military is dominated by the tradition of professionalism, physical and verbal abuse is regarded as one of the conditions of servitude.

No matter how long the U. S. has to maintain a growing standing army, it is to be hoped the needs of discipline never get to the point of overriding respect for the dignity of the individual soldier. If that should ever come to pass, moral self-defense would be so complete that we might just as well disband the services, there being little left to fight for.

APPEAL OF THE NEW

THAT THE American people are quick to swing to a new product which is deemed an improvement is being demonstrated in the case of automobile tires. The new models now coming off the assembly lines are equipped with tubeless tires, which have been on the market for several years at premium prices. This action by auto manufacturers will result in a great upsurge of demand for the new tires, according to J. A. Hoban, vice president of the B. F. Goodrich Company.

Hoban told a meeting of the Sales Executives Club in Chicago that "adoption of tubeless tires as standard equipment by car manufacturers will now make tubeless tires a household word in the United States."

Tires with tubes will continue to be available for those who prefer them, but Hoban is right in predicting a great upsurge in demand for tubeless tires in this country. When a new product makes its appearance that has manifest advantages, the American people switch to it with such alacrity that frequently manufacturing and marketing setups are seriously affected.

Nearly all automobiles manufactured next year will have the same type engine and the same number of cylinders. But some will reveal more ingenuity than others in hiding the cigarette lighter.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

WASHINGTON — Frank Braden, press representative for Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus, has filled in missing chapters of the anecdote I recently described in this column — namely, how Lya Graf, a mid-gem from his show, met the late J. Pierpont Morgan during the Pecora investigation of Wall Street on Capitol Hill.

Writing from New York, Frank says:

"Left the Big Show at Jacksonville, Fla., Saturday, and arrived here an hour ago. I find a copy of your Morgan-Midget column before me. Your account clears up the whole episode.

"It tells me at last what happened to Lya Graf after she had reached the corridor of the Senate Office Building, outside the doors of the Pecora Inquiry Committee room.

ORIGINATOR — "You are the newspaperman, although I was not sure until I read your factual account, who made the fabulous stunt really fabulous by persuading Al Nesselson, new Acme man in Washington that forenoon—

June 1, 1933—to bring Lya inside. You got him and Lya into the Senate Committee room, passed the Senate guards, and encouraged Al to put her on Morgan's knee.

"Al was the chap you thought was a 'circus press agent.' Damon Runyon said he was a 'rudely-faced fellow in a brown suit.' All Nesselson hoped to do was to waylay Morgan when he left the committee room for lunch. We had chalked out the Carlton Hotel, where we knew he was staying.

GRAND DAME — "As I have said hundreds of times in discussing the incident throughout the country, Lya was a 'miniature grande dame.' She spoke excellent English.

"I can understand Nesselson's needing your encouragement and escort. J. P. Morgan was an awesome figure—he had just broken a camera on the incoming Berengaria before his appearance at the Pecora inquiry. I had told the photographer that afternoon in the National Press Club that I would not—and could not—appear personally.

These Days

Perhaps the most difficult problem to solve is the neutrality of the Asiatic countries. In 1945, all the Asiatic countries were pro-American; in 1954 no Asiatic country can be defined as pro-American except possibly the Philippines. Japan would like to be pro-American but geographic necessities cannot be ignored by a country that can, at any time, be conquered. The mistakes of Teheran and Yalta plague us now.

The decisive factor in the loss of American prestige in Asia was the Korean War which we could have won but lost. There are those, including General Douglas MacArthur, who believe that it was deliberately lost. General George E. Stratemeyer has testified:

"General Stratemeyer. It is contrary to everything that every military commander that I have been associated with or from all of our history—he (MacArthur) has never been in a position where he could not win the war he started to win. That is not American. . . And who did it—I don't know. I know that General MacArthur's hands were tied, I am sure, not by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, but by the then State Department. I make that as my opinion, and I still believe it.

"Mr. Carpenter (Jenner Committee Counsel). Did members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff visit Tokyo quite frequently?

"General Stratemeyer. Yes, sir.

"Mr. Carpenter. Did they ever clarify the policy that was expected?

"General Stratemeyer. They did their best to; yes, sir. I do not think General MacArthur was ever satisfied that he had a constructive mission where he could go ahead and win. When I make that statement, I am not criticizing the Joint Chiefs of Staff. They had instructions, I am sure, from higher authority and those conferences were always pleasant. . .

Further, this colloquy took place:

"Mr. Carpenter. What was the effect of the relief of General MacArthur on the command?

"General Stratemeyer. Well, I cried. I think the whole command, the morale dropped, it went way down, people could not believe it, a soldier could not believe it, an airman could not believe it, a sailor could not believe it. Everybody loved General MacArthur out there and I had never run into a man that served under him that didn't love him, and right out of a clear sky, he gets summarily dismissed. I know the reaction was great with the Japanese, too.

"Mr. Carpenter. There is no question but what MacArthur wanted to win the war; is that not right?

"General Stratemeyer. That is correct, sir. . .

In Asia, "face," which can be translated as abiding prestige, counts for much more than it does in the United States. When General MacArthur was summarily dismissed, not only did he lose face, but the United States lost face. The reason is that it was then believed that the United States shamed its great senior commander to please the British. General Stratemeyer now has testified that this view is correct.

SYNOPSIS
At 86, Josh Trevett makes his will, leaving an equal share of his rambling farm in New York state to each of his nieces, Mrs. Hester Wilmer, Miss Jennie Todd and his nephew, Tom Todd. But to acquire this title, each must remain three months on the land, those leaving sooner relinquishing their share or shares to the final "resident." Josh also assigns an acre with tiny cottage to Gary Norbeck, a stranger who'd come to live there. Shortly after making his will, Josh falls from a rafter school in Cleveland, Ohio, where she is house-mother, and Jenny receives news of her inheritance, and relishes the prospect of living on a farm.

CHAPTER FOUR

HESTER WILMER awakened on the morning of June 2, alive in every bit of her to the importance of this day. At 2 o'clock the nominating committee of the board of directors of the Athena club was to meet to appoint the club's officers for the coming year. And it was certain in her mind, and in the minds of her friends that she would be chosen unanimously for president. This year the presidency was even more to be desired for the club was co-operating with civic organizations to put on a gigantic pageant in celebration of the 200th anniversary of the coming of the Holland Land Co. to this frontier. It had the responsibility of costuming the cast of the pageant. Though the affair would not come off until August, a committee, of which she was chairman, already was working over designs and materials for costumes.

A glance at her watch told her that Hubert would still be at the breakfast table. Usually he was gone when she went downstairs, and, as they used separate bedrooms, she seldom encountered him until dinner time. But it would begin the day as this day should begin—to have this opportunity to tell Hubert, Enid, too, of its importance. He should realize that her prominence in the social life of the city was a definite asset to him in his insurance business. Enid should realize that it helped her, socially, too.

Hers was a home beautiful in every detail and, as she walked down the stairs this morning, it seemed particularly so. "I'll invite a few in for tea this afternoon," she thought and instantly went swiftly over in her mind the ones she would ask to rejoice with her over the honor accorded her. . .

She found Hubert at the table in the breakfast-room. At her coming he said: "Why down so early?"

"I've a busy day." She rang a bell and when a maid appeared, said: "Good morning, Dora. Just fruit juice and toast, please."

Then Hubert said: "Glad you have come down, Hester, before Enid. A bill came to my office yesterday from Jaffe's. For a fur coat—$1,000."

"It's for Enid."

"Enid has a fur coat—you have one."

"Why shouldn't a mother plan what was best for her daughter?" The St. Agnes Academy here—expensive, yes, but the daughters of the best families in Buffalo attended it; had for three generations. That finishing school in North Carolina—there Enid had had the opportunity of making lifelong friends with girls from old Southern families. The Assemblies here. Enid's junior membership at the country club, her golf lessons, tennis, riding . . . Everything she had planned through the years had been for Enid's good!

TALK WITH J. P. — Since the publication of my column on how the Midget came to meet Morgan, and my reference to a subsequent interview with him, many readers have asked me what his views were on economic conditions, politics, etc. He forbade me to publish them then, but there is no bar now.

He hated Roosevelt and the New Deal, believing that both would bankrupt the country. But he felt that the United States was so great, so rich, so energetic, that it would survive. He hated American noises, especially the constant ringing of bells. He loved the peace, the quiet and the orderliness of England.

He exploded when I suggested that he was largely responsible for the peal of bells in this country.

"How do you explain that?" he asked.

"Well," I replied, "who but the house of Morgan, with its bond issues, has financed telephone bells, railroad and trolley bells and whistles, door bells and every other kind of bell in the United States?"

"I never thought of that!" he said. "You're quite right!"

"Hester, we've got to go more carefully! We've been living up to the limit of my income these past five years. Where do you think we are going to finish up when all my savings are gone?"

Hester sat very still. To count 10 before she spoke, when she was angry, long had been a practice of hers. She reached five and broke off for Enid was coming into the room.

"Good morning, mother. Good morning, dad." Enid did not sit down. "I had some breakfast in the kitchen a half-hour ago. Just stopped to say hello."

Hester said: "Why couldn't you wait to eat with us, darling?"

"I told Gertrude I'd stop at her house before 10."

Hester's smile stiffened a little. She did not like this friendship between Enid and Gertrude Nichols. The girl was nice enough, but she wasn't in Enid's set.

"Enid, it's going to be a beautiful day! I'm not using the car—why don't you call up Martha or Peg and drive out to the club and spend the day. Play some tennis . . ."

Enid said, without looking at her mother: "Gert and I are going to apply for jobs as copy girls at the Evening News! They take extra ones on in the summer."

"What a fantastic idea, darling!" Hester said.

Hubert got up from his chair. "I'll drop you at your friend's house on my way to the office."

"Thanks, dad. I'll be ready in a minute." Enid hurried out of the room.

Hubert said: "Ever thought that you plan Enid's life for her too much? That maybe there's a lot in the old saying against trying to fit a square peg in a round hole?" He went on out of the room without waiting for her answer. She heard Enid run down the stairs, the door close behind them.

She was not going to let two of them spoil this day. She finished her coffee, went from the breakfast-room to her study, a charming, glass-enclosed room, at the end of the hall. The morning's mail lay on the desk. Usually she read it before she let anything else occupy her but now she sat at the desk merely fingering the top envelope. For she found staying with her the echo of what Hubert had said as he stood beside her at the table.

"Why shouldn't a mother plan what was best for her daughter?" The St. Agnes Academy here—expensive, yes, but the daughters of the best families in Buffalo attended it; had for three generations. That finishing school in North Carolina—there Enid had had the opportunity of making lifelong friends with girls from old Southern families. The Assemblies here. Anne Babbitt—Anne was one of the directors.

Feeling calmer, Hester opened her mail—a few bills, two wedding invitations, an appeal for money. She considered each, put it back in its proper pigeonhole and picked up the larger, thicker envelope that had lain at the bottom of the little pile.

Registered, she noticed. From Wickford Middleton in Killbuck, the man who had signed the telegram notifying her of her Uncle Jehosphat's death. She had wired flowers.

She broke the flap of the envelope, spread out its sheets. "The Last Will and Testament of Jehosphat Trevett."

She smiled—was the old man leaving what little he had to her in appreciation for the letters she had written to him occasionally from a sense of duty?

But as she read the will she gave sounds of mounting indignation. Live up there in that desolate place—with Jennie and Tommy? Three months—and the pageant in August? Enid's summer to think of? And who was this Gary Norbeck? Certainly no relation. The old man was senile, of course. "I'll contest it. I'll call Robert Drew tomorrow morning and tell him to start at once whatever proceedings have to be taken. The entire property should come to me rightfully—I'm the only one of the family who ever has given him a thought!"

Two o'clock—it would not take the board long to name the officers. Then Anne Babbitt would call her. She dressed for the afternoon, went down again to her study. While waiting for Anne's call she would start a list of guests for a dinner—perhaps next week at the country club.

Her telephone rang. The "Hello" was in Anne's voice.

Yes, Anne!

Hester's knuckles were white where one hand gripped the receiver; the other the edge of her desk. But her voice was even, soft. "You were there, Anne!"

"I know it, but what could I do? I argued and argued about it, said, oh, all the things about you. Do you know what their reason was? That you were indispensable as chairman of the pageant committee—that you'd done most of the work on it so far and it would set everything back if you couldn't give all your time to it! But Lydia Holzworth—what's she ever done except read poems at the morning programs? Hester, darling—maybe you'd rather we didn't come in this afternoon. Be honest—I'll call up everyone you've asked . . ."

"How silly! Of course I want you to come!"

"See you later, then. 'By."

WASHINGTON (AP)—It probably will be years before there is an end to segregation in American public schools.

The Supreme Court, ruling last May that public school segregation is unconstitutional and must end, left unanswered for the time being the two key questions: how and when.

The court now can't attempt to give the answer before far into next year. Even then, judging from the court's careful slowness in handling the segregation problem, it is unlikely to call for overnight action.

The court doesn't have to follow the views of President Eisenhower and Atty. Gen. Brownell but no doubt will consider them. Both last week came out for a careful and gradual solution as against a sudden one.

And those Southern states which have given their opinions to the court have called for a gradual approach as a minimum, although Negroes have told the court they want segregation ended no later than September 1956.

A few Southern states in extreme opposition to the court's ruling, particularly Georgia, may try the following kind of device for thwarting any final effort of the federal government to end segregation at all.

End their present public school system and substitute another kind—for instance, private associations—to keep white and Negro children separate. The Georgia voters approved such a plan in the Nov. 2 elections. And Georgia's Gov. Talmadge has said:

"Segregation in Georgia will not be ended at any time."

The Supreme Court ruled against segregation in public schools. An arrangement like Georgia's, supported by public tax money, would be in effect a public school system under another name. Or would it?

Some lawyers here foresee, before there could be an answer to that question, a fight all the way up through the federal courts again to the Supreme Court, a fight which would take more years.

Although the court was first asked in December 1952 to outlaw segregation, it didn't give its opinion until May 17, 1954. This by itself was clear evidence it understood the magnitude of the problem and the need for care in solving it.

The problem is not one but many: the intense and ancient racial prejudices that must be softened or compromised; the planning required in combining schools and school districts; financing; redistributing white and Negro teachers.

The court could have laid down the rules on how and when segregation had to end when it said in May public school segregation is unlawful. But it wanted the benefit of the views of those most closely connected with the issue.

It asked the states involved and attorneys for the Negro groups fighting segregation to explain, in briefs filed with the court this fall, what they thought should be done. The briefs were filed.

The states proposed the take-it-easy course and the Negroes wanted desegregation accomplished by the fall of 1956. The last brief, from Brownell's Justice Department, was given the court last Wednesday.

That was one day after Eisenhower had talked to a news conference of the need for a solution carefully arrived at. No doubt he knew what Brownell was going to tell the court the following day.

Like Eisenhower, Brownell set no deadline for ending public school segregation. It should be done as "quickly as feasible," he said.

And he proposed the high court allow the judges in the federal districts courts in those states which have segregation—to work out the details, and the timetable, with state and school officials.

The court had intended, after getting the written briefs, to let the attorneys on both sides argue before the court in December. Now the court has postponed those arguments until sometime, date still unset, when it has a full bench to hear them. The nine-man court now has one vacancy and Eisenhower's appointee for the job, John Marshall Harlan, is not slated for a Senate vote on his confirmation until next year.

After hearing the arguments the court will consider them, perhaps for months, before finally giving a decision on how and when segregation must end, a decision which may not come before next June.

Grocery Tycoon Takes Own Life

MILLIS, Mass. (AP)—Roger Preston, 54, president since 1947 of S. S. Pierce Co. of Boston, New England-wide grocery and importing firm, was officially listed a suicide today after his body was found in Charles River.

Dr. Harold L. Shenker, medical examiner, pronounced Preston a suicide by drowning. He said he had "six self-inflicted pellet wounds about the face and neck," caused by an air pistol found in the pocket of his jacket.

The wounds were not sufficient to cause death and Preston apparently was alive when he went into the water, the medical examiner said.

Kefauver Backers Plan Campaign

CHATTANOOGA (AP)—A drive to obtain 10 million signatures boosting Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) for president will start in January.

Barney Hasden, president of the Chattanooga "Youth Organization for Kefauver," said petitions will be sent to each state urging that people sign them in an effort to get Kefauver to seek the Democratic nomination in 1956.

Kefauver, an unsuccessful candidate for the nomination at the 1952 Democratic convention, has stated, "I'm not a candidate, and I don't have any plans."

Sidney Collision Kills 4 Persons

Dead were the driver, Kale D. Vogt, 25, stationed at the Patuxent River, Md., naval base; Mrs. Martha Joan Staley, 25; Mrs. Evelyn Feight, 21, and Orville Huston, 28, all of Sidney.

Paul Herbert, 64, Seriously Injured

COLUMBUS (AP)—Paul M. Herbert, 64, former Ohio lieutenant governor, was in "good" condition at Mt. Carmel Hospital with eye and other injuries suffered when his car left Ohio 161 Saturday night near Marysville.

His Doctor said he would know in "two or three days" whether the attorney's left eye can be saved.

Pet Rooster Lost

A search continued over the weekend for a pet bantam rooster owned by Mrs. A. B. Cooper, of Ashville, well known in the district as a friend of many pets brought to her attention. The rooster, highly valued as a pet of the neighborhood, disappeared from the vicinity of Mrs. Cooper's home late Friday.

Jet Fuel Burns Kill Marylander

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Clinton, Md., father whose family was wiped out in the crash of a jet fighter in their back yard in October died yesterday after he seemed to have been on the road to recovery.

John W. Vaughn Jr., 25, suffered second and third-degree burns from the exploding jet fuel and rockets that killed his wife and two small children Oct. 12.

More Trailers Needed For Yanks

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—Modern trailer camps are to spring up near some of the U. S. Air Force bases in Europe to ease housing problems. The Air Force's 85,000-man force has more than 58,000 wives and children in Europe.

The first 85 trailers have been set up at Toul, France. The current budget authorizes 675. An Air Force spokesman says 3,000 are needed.

Bargain Hunters Cause Elevator Fall

TOKYO (AP)—Two dozen bargain hunters in the Isetan department store rushed past the guards and crowded into the elevator.

The elevator slipped its brakes and plunged eight stories to the basement, nonstop. Nobody was hurt, but Isetan store officials rushed the passengers into a parlor, apologized profusely and gave them each 500 yen (about $1.50) merchandise certificates.

Fumes Kill Boy Guarding Trees

FINDLAY (AP)—The death by carbon monoxide poisoning of Ellis Groves, 16-year-old Findlay youth, was ruled an accident today.

Groves was found yesterday in a small shack where he was to spend the night guarding some Christmas trees being sold in a small open area. The boy had closed the shack windows and turned on a small space heater.

Movie Directors Get Hazard Pay

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Something new has been added to the Screen Directors' Guild contract: hazardous duty pay.

Assistant directors will get $35 per flight on airborne assignments and $22 per dive for underwater pay when they perform frogman chores, according to provisions of a new three-year contract announced yesterday.

FINDLAY (AP)—The Rev. Harry Rothrock, 71, injured Nov. 20 when struck by a car on a street near his Vanlue home, died here Saturday. He was pastor of Vanlue Methodist Church.

Waverly Atomic Guards Stay Strike

COLUMBUS (AP)—U. S. Mediator George Bell says a tentative agreement reached in negotiations with guards at the Waverly atomic energy plant removes, for the moment, a threatened strike of guard personnel today.

Guards will vote Thursday on a negotiated agreement covering working hours and wages.

The threatened strike had posed the possibility of a general work stoppage at the huge atomic plant.

Bell said the agreement modifies guards' work schedules and provides a wage increase, but he declined to release terms.

2 Men Escape From Honor Camp

OXFORD (AP)—Police in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana were alerted today for two men who stole a truck and escaped over the week end from the Oxford Honor Camp of the Ohio Penitentiary.

The escapees, Roy M. Durbin, 46, and Jack Coates, 29, were sentenced from Cincinnati for writing checks without enough money.

Today, everywhere, the trend is definitely toward Concrete Masonry for the construction of modern stores, factories, dairies, office buildings, bowling alleys, automobile sales rooms — in fact, any type of building designed for commercial, industrial or institutional use.

Nowhere in the building field are first costs and future costs more important than in the erection of commercial buildings. No material offers so much at such reasonable cost as Concrete Masonry Units which offer all the desirable features found in general home construction. This material is sufficiently flexible and versatile to be adapted to any architectural or structural designs to suit the purpose for which the building is to be used. Discuss the possibilities of Concrete Masonry construction with your architect or builder.

Alliance Pilot Voted Ohio's Coach Of Year

Knowlton Tipped Head Of North All-Stars; Lancaster Chief Cited

COLUMBUS, Ohio (P)—His Aviators didn't win the state championship, but they defeated the team that took the title, and so—

Fellow mentors, sports editors and broadcasters today named Mel Knowlton of Alliance as "Ohio's High School Coach of the Year."

Not only was the Miami University graduate elected the state's No. 1 scholastic coach in the annual Associated Press poll, but in an unofficial, sentiment-seeking ballot, he was a standout choice to pilot the upstate all-stars in the annual North-South All-Senior game next August in Mansfield.

Larry Peterson of Lancaster, whose Golden Gales won nine in a row, was the sentimental favorite for coach of the Southern All-Stars.

The all-star team vote, as recorded in The Associated Press poll, has no bearing on the selections of coaches to be made by the Ohio High School Football Coaches Assn. Only coaches ballot in the official selections for the North and South mentors, while The Associated Press poll includes the ideas of newspapermen, broadcasters, officials and coaches.

Back of Knowlton in the "Coach of the Year" balloting, tied for second place, were Gene Slaughter of Jackson, Peterson of Lancaster, and Virgil Scardina of Cincinnati. All with unbeaten campaigns. Close up were Jim Eby of Greenville, Dan Mormile of Cleveland Cathedral Latin, Gil Smith of Van Wert, Tom Harp of Massillon, Wade Watts of Canton McKinley, Ralph Webster of Columbus East, Bill Pederson of Mansfield, Ben Wilson of Wellston, and Eddie Wentz of Akron St. Vincent.

Knowlton, since taking over the reins at Alliance in 1946 following a 3½-year service hitch, has won 50, lost 30 and tied 2. He enjoyed 3-1 seasons in both 1948 and 1954, each defeat coming at the hands of Canton McKinley. His Aviators were the only team to defeat state champion Massillon this year, winning 19-7.

In the North-South coaching race, Harp and Watts were deadlocked behind Knowlton, tossing the three

25 Outfits Write Perfect Seasons

NEW YORK (P)—Oklahoma and Tennessee State ended the 1954 football season as the top winning teams in the list of 25 unbeaten-outfitted eleven.

The Sooners and Tennessee State each finished the campaign with 10 victories. UCLA and Ohio State were the only major schools, besides Oklahoma, to go through the season with perfect records. They won nine each.

top spots to the three Stark County mentors. Next in line were Smith of Van Wert and Mormile of Cathedral Latin, followed by Ralph Robinette of Youngstown Rayen and Hilton Murphy of Toledo DeVilbiss.

Scardina of Cincinnati Elder was runner-up to Peterson in the southern voting, with Webster of Columbus East third. Joe Carlo of Newark and Slaughter of Jackson were next, followed by Eby of Greenville and Dow Nelson of Worthington.

In a special vote to determine the state's outstanding offensive and defensive players, The Associated Press vote rated them in this order:

Offensive linemen: John Kompara, Canton McKinley tackle, age 17, height 6-2, weight 214, followed by Darwin Watson of Newark and Ernie Sheeler of Canton McKinley. Defensive lineman: Ron Lawrence, Cleveland Cathedral Latin tackle, age 17, height 6-2, weight 218, followed by Laverne Banks of Columbus East and Dick Royer of Cincinnati Elder.

Offensive back: Homer Floyd, Massillon fullback-halfback, age 17, height 5-10, weight 160, followed by John Goodrich of Canton McKinley and Tom Barnett of Alliance.

Defensive back: Ronald Toth, Cleveland Cathedral Latin fullback and linebacker, age 17, height 5-10, weight 195, followed by Rubin Sims of Lima Shawnee and Don Clark of Akron Central.

Showdown Due In Minor Loop Franchise Tiff

HOUSTON (P)—The New York Yankees' efforts to place their homeless Kansas City American League franchise in Denver and the St. Louis Cardinals' plan to shift their Columbus club to Omaha reached the "showdown" stage today as the minor leagues opened their annual convention.

With the Dec. 1 deadline for any franchise shift only 48 hours away, officials of the clubs and leagues involved were knee-deep in special sessions and private caucuses hoping to bring baseball's newest headache to some sort of solution.

The American Assn. and the Western League scheduled separate meetings before tangling in a joint session later in the day.

In the meantime, officials of the Yankees, Cardinals, Denver and Omaha clubs were engaged in private conferences.

Realizing that the ultimate decision reached at these meetings and conferences could lead to baseball's greatest realignment of teams, other leagues held off their meetings until the picture cleared.

This much was known: The Yankees want to move their Kansas City AA franchise to Denver, currently in the Class A Western League. The Cardinals are ready to vacate Columbus and switch that AA franchise to Omaha, also in the Western. The Cardinals, incidentally, also own the Omaha franchise. The independently owned Denver club is operated by Bob Howsam.

Gun Experts Elect

Sokolsky's These Days

He said

"...As I recall, the reply (to MacArthur's request for permission to bomb north of the Yalu) stated that they had some agreement with the British not to violate Manchuria without consulting the British. I am sure such signal came in."

In all Asiatic countries the British were disliked because of colonialism and their attitude of racial superiority. Asiatics turned to the United States as a country that did not engage in colonialism, that represented the concept of national independence. When Asiatics were forced to believe by the course of events that the American policy toward them was determined by Great Britain, they lost faith in the United States. This has been true in Korea, Indonesia, India and to a degree in Indochina.

If the United States is to regain its influence in Asia, it must overcome the effects of the Korean War.

Browns Given Big Margin For Role In Grid Playoff

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's Browns beat the Giants in New York yesterday and virtually wrapped up the division title. And had they lost, Coach Paul Brown says he would have taken the blame.

Brown, talking to a reporter after the 16-7 victory, was referring to his decision in the second quarter to go for a touchdown instead of an almost sure three points via the field goal route.

"I should have called it the sure way, but I began to get greedy," he said. "The boys were egging me on to go for the touchdown, and we did."

The Browns, who started on their own 18, had a fourth down coming up with a yard to go on the Giant four when the coach made his decision. They made the first down to the New York one, but two plays later, Billy Reynolds fumbled as he drove into the end zone, and the Giants recovered.

As it turned out, however, the three points weren't even needed. The victory was the sixth straight for the Browns who need victory in but two of their remaining three games to sew up their fifth straight Eastern Division title. The defeat

Three veterans of the Browns' campaigns figured in yesterday's triumph. Quarterback Otto Graham completed 16 passes for a total of 210 yards and scored Cleveland's only touchdown on a sneak in the first period. Lou Groza accounted for the rest of the Browns' scoring with a conversion and three field goals. Horace Gillom did his part with well-placed punts, including one which went for 80 yards and put the Browns out of peril in the third quarter.

The Giants scored in the third period when Herb Johnson caught a punt and romped 48 yards for the touchdown. Other than that, the Cleveland line was more than satisfactory. It held the Giants to only four yards rushing, against Cleveland's 126. New York passing netted only 64 more yards.

Groza started the Cleveland scoring by booting an 18-yard field goal five minutes after the game started. In the kickoff that followed, the Giant's quarterback, Chuck Conerly, was injured and out of the contest.

Graham's score came in the same first period after he set up the play by completing a 19-yard pass to Darrell Brewster, downed on the one.

Groza wrapped it up with a nine-yard field goal in the second and a 38-yarder in the third.

Barring miracles in the form of sharp reversals of form, it appears that the Browns and the Detroit Lions will meet for the championship next month for the third straight time.

While Cleveland moved closer to the clincher by handing the Giants a 16-7 setback, the idle Lions saw the Los Angeles Rams and San Francisco 49ers drop out of contention, leaving only the Chicago Bears in the race.

The best the Bears can do is tie Detroit for the Western Conference lead. They can do that only if the Lions lose all of their three remaining games and the Bears win the pair: they have left.

Cleveland can nail down its fifth Eastern Conference crown by winning two of three, no matter what the Giants and Philadelphia in a second-place deadlock, do.

In other games yesterday, the Bears downed Los Angeles 24-13, Baltimore dumped San Francisco 41-33 and Pittsburgh nipped the Chicago Cardinals 20-17. Detroit won a 28-24 victory over Green Bay Thanksgiving day.

Army Offers No Alibi For Loss To Navy

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Army offered no alibi for its 27-20 defeat by a fired-up Navy football team Saturday but there are many who questioned the Cadets' kickoff strategy and the calling for a pass

Orioles Seeking Deal With Chisox

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Sun said today it had learned the Baltimore Orioles have offered catcher Clint Courtney and $50,000 to the Chicago White Sox for the veteran infielder George Kell.

Prior to last season, when he was hampered by a bad back and a knee injury, the 32-year-old Kell had batted over .300 in eight straight seasons and had a lifetime major league mark of .311.

Last year Kell batted .276 while playing for the Boston Red Sox and the Chicago Sox. He played third base for the White Sox under Paul Richards, new Oriole manager.

Lopes makes his eastern debut and if he can get by the flashy Brooklynite, he will be in line for plenty of action on network shows. He has a 23-6-2 record compared to Perez' 30-3-1.

The other Monday night network bout, from Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena, will feature a pair of punching middleweights, veteran Gil Turner of Philadelphia and Young Ray Drake of New York.

for what could have been the tying touchdown when they had been ripping the Middles' line asunder.

Fired with the knowledge that a Sugar Bowl assignment awaited them should they win or even tie, the Middles lacked only a few yards of matching the Cadets in yards gained on the ground and made three of their five completed passes good for touchdowns.

After the Army had gone ahead on Pete Vann's 42-yard pass to Bob Kyasky, the Cadets came up with one of their questionable kickoffs. This one was an inside kick that went only to the Navy 47. Army thought it could fool the Middles

and get another quick TD.

But short kickoffs were common for the Cadets, even though Head Coach Earl Blaik said it wasn't planned that way. In addition to the inside kicks, kickoffs by Army's Ralph Chesnauskas were so short that Navy was able to put the ball in play on its 38, 41, 38 and 42. The Middles marched to touchdowns after two of the kicks, including the one that gave them a 21-20 half-time lead.

In the fourth quarter came the questionable call of a pass play after an intercepted pass had stopped the Middles three yards short of a touchdown.

Circleville To Participate In Nation's Safe Driving Day Test

Ray Friend Set To Direct Plan For Community

Whole Country Aims At 24-Hour Period Without Accident

Circleville and nearly every other community of any size in the nation will undergo a rigid test the middle of December.

S-D Day—for Safe Driving Day—will be mainly a test for motorists. But to a great degree also it will be a test of each community's public attitude toward traffic safety. Anyone involved in a traffic accident on Dec. 15, the day picked for the nationwide program, can expect to be in the spotlight.

Mayor Bob Hedges has announced that Circleville will participate, and that Ray Friend, of Dartmouth Drive, will serve as director for the test in this community.

Safe Driving Day is being proclaimed throughout the nation by governors, mayors and county officials in cooperation with President Eisenhower's Action Committee for Traffic Safety. The committee is a volunteer group working, at the president's request, to reduce fatalities and accidents on the streets and highways.

Many community and civic organizations are supporting the S-D Day plans launched by the public officials.

TOP PURPOSE of the 24-hour test will be to show that motorists and pedestrians can eliminate traffic accidents by full cooperation, at least for the one day when the country's attention will be focused on traffic accidents and the people involved in them.

Through the dramatic and convincing results thus achieved, the President's Committee hopes to achieve a lasting reduction in the daily traffic toll. For each community, the test will be to remain completely free of a traffic mishap for the 24-hour period.

On a nationwide scale, S-D Day will be the greatest effort ever made to reduce traffic deaths.

President Eisenhower, in his statement explaining the details, said:

"All of us agree with the purpose of Safe Driving Day. It is to save lives and to prevent injuries. No endeavor could be more worthy of our universal cooperation. None is more urgent.

"On this December fifteenth I hope that every American will help make it a day without a single traffic accident throughout our entire country.

"How can we best do this? Three things are essential.

"FIRST, LET'S each of us make sure that we obey traffic regulations.

"Second, let's follow common sense rules of good sportsmanship and courtesy.

"Third, let's each one of us resolve that, either as drivers or as pedestrians we will stay alert and careful, mindful of the constant possibility of accidents caused by negligence.

"If every one of us will do these three things, Safe Driving Day can be a day without a traffic accident in all of America.

"Last year, when I called a national conference on highway safety, Americans were being killed in traffic accidents at a rate of 38,000 a year. A million more were being injured.

"This year, although we are driving more cars more miles than ever before, the number of deaths and injuries from accidents is smaller. Clearly we have found that it is not necessary to have more and more deaths and injuries.

"I believe we can do even better—and that we must do better. Each of us must help.

"Won't you do your part on December fifteenth to help stop death and injury on the highways and roads of America? Let's make Safe Driving Day an overwhelming success, and our nation's standard for the future."

Cops Help Fireman Save His Pies

DALLAS (AP)—Fireman C. W. Brock, who doubles as cook at Station 36, left in a hurry after an alarm yesterday.

En route he remembered three coconut pies in the oven, baking for supper.

He advised the fire dispatcher, who called the police dispatcher, who flashed word to a patrol car cruising in the area to "turn out the fire in the oven at Fire Station 36."

The house was heavily damaged. Police saved the pies.

O. A. Alderman, chief of the Ohio Division of Forestry, has issued his annual warning to truckers concerning the law regarding the transporting of Christmas trees and boughs.

The law requires transporters to carry bills of sale for cut trees and boughs when hauling five or more cut trees or one hundred pounds or more of boughs.

The transporter shall have on his person, while engaged in such hauling, a bill of sale signed by the lawful owner or custodian of the land or lands from which such trees or boughs were cut and removed. The bill of sale shall designate date of sale, number of trees or pounds and species of boughs being transported, the name of the township, county and state where such lands are situated and the proper postal address of the landowner or custodian. If such trees or boughs have been obtained from

Then, early in the morning, Lady

McCarthy Asks For Debate End Wednesday Afternoon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy proposed today that the Senate end its censure debate at 3 p. m.
Wednesday. He said he was prepared for whatever the Senate might do.

3 Tell Reds For Peace Confab

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three Western peacemakers today, but laid down their own conditions for meeting.

In a series of positions among an agreement on an Austrian state treaty and modification of Russia's position on holding free elections to reunify Germany.

The other three points called for study, through diplomatic channels, of all questions relating to European security; a meeting of Soviet, British, French and American foreign ministers after ratification of the London-Paris agreements, and perhaps a conference of "European and other interested powers to consider the remaining aspects of European security."

The Western Big Three sent their identical rejections by messenger to the Soviet Foreign Office.

THE NOTES WERE a formal turnaround to Russia's Oct. 23 proposal for a four power foreign ministers meeting, and the Soviets'
Nov. 13 proposal for a general East-West conference on creating a collective security system for Europe.

Both these proposals, the U. S. reply said, were aimed at delaying or preventing ratification of the agreements reached by the Western nations at meetings in London and Paris this fall. The text of the U. S. reply was made public by the state department.

American officials emphasized that close examination had failed to show anything new in the Soviet proposal.

But as to the possibility Dr.
Sheppard suffered a spinal injury, the witness said "I just couldn't make a diagnosis of a spinal cord injury," although he admitted he never before had made a spinal cord examination.

Sheppard's abdominal reflexes also were impaired, said the witness, Dr. R. D. Hexter, a Cleveland physician.

He took the stand today as a prosecution witness against the Bay Village osteopath, who is charged with first degree murder in his wife's death.

Dr. Hexter was summoned by the coroner on the afternoon of July 4, to examine Dr. Sheppard at Bay View Hospital. Sheppard was taken there for treatment after telling investigators a bushy haired man who killed his wife also injured him in two scuffles.

THE WITNESS also said he spoke with Sheppard, and he said Sheppard's responses were "normal."
What he described a "marked edema"—a swelling—appeared on Sheppard's right cheekbone and over his right forehead, Hexter said, and Sheppard also had a black eye.

arose within the first hour after the Senate reconvened its special censure session, put aside for 11 days to let McCarthy undergo treatment for an injured elbow.

McCarthy said the pending censure charges against him boil down simply to the accusation that "I have used discourteous and offensive words."

"I admit that at times I have been tremely blunt in expressing my opinions," McCarthy said. "I do not claim to be a master of words."

"This being true, I say to those who feel they have been offended, that I had no intention in the words that were used of hurting the feeling of anyone—but in the facts and opinions that I held, I am unchanged."

The dramatic McCarthy statement came as a new charge was ready for filing against him.

Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) prepared the new accusation. Two censure counts already have been recommended by a special bipartisan committee.

Bennett's charge is based on Mc-Carthy's attacks on the special committee and its chairman, Sen.
Watkins (R-Utah).

Bennett's new charge sets out that McCarthy accused the Watkins committee of acting as the "unwitting handmaidens," "involuntary agent" and "attorneys-in-fact" of the Communist party and of imitating Communist methods in its report recommending he be censured.

These charges of McCarthy's were made in a speech which he never delivered but which he inserted in the Congressional Record after giving copies to the press.

Bennett's resolution also declares that McCarthy described the special Senate session as a "lynch party" and a "lynch bee,"

Delegations from East Germany and Poland arrived in Moscow Saturday, and those from Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Albania arrived yesterday.
Communist China sent observers.

Heading the Soviet delegation is Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, assisted by Deputy Foreign Ministers Gromyko and Zorin.

In originally inviting 24 countries to the parley and proposing that it be held in either Paris or Moscow, the Soviets frankly aimed at preventing ratifications of the Paris pacts to rearm West Germany within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Molotov first suggested on Nov.
13 that the 25-nation conference be held Nov. 29. A week later he offered to set a later date and warned that rejection of his proposition would force Soviet Union and her allies to take countermeasures for their own security.

Ohioan Accused

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—A Mansfield, Ohio, Marine is one of four who have been charged with the $250 holdup of a liquor store here.
Police identified Charles Austin, 19, as one of the four, all stationed at Newport Naval Operating Base.

A felt neckpad was around Sheppard's neck and the osteopath moved his head "with some difficulty," Hexter said.

However, the physician continued, he found no discoloration and very little swelling when the neck-pad was removed.

There were several small abrasion on the inside of the doctor's mouth, Hexter said.

Hexter said Sheppard's brother,
Dr. Stephen Sheppard, asked if he wanted to see X-rays that were taken of the osteopath's neck.

The examining physician said he did not, because he was not familiar with the appearance of Sheppard's neck and "I thought an examination of X-rays should be left more to an expert."

Defense Attorney William J. Corrigan put the witness under cross examination by asking him:
"Do you know how to make the diagnosis of a spinal cord injury?"
"Yes," replied Dr. Hexter, "I believe I can."

"Have you ever made one?"
"No, I have not," replied the witness.

"You never made a diagnosis of a spinal cord injury," Corrigan continued "but you come into court here where a man is on trial for murder."
The state objected and Corrigan was not allowed to finish.

Lad, 17, Admits Shooting Steppad

IRONTON (AP)—Sheriff Carl E.
Rose says a 17-year-old boy has admitted a shotgun shooting which left the youth's stepfather in grave condition today in a hospital here.

Sheriff Rose said Ronald Baldwin, 17, signed a statement saying he fired a 12-gauge shotgun at George Nance, 38, of nearby Kitts
Hill, because Nance was abusing Baldwin's mother. Baldwin's statement said also Nance threatened him with a knife prior to the shooting last night at the home of Nance,

CHICAGO (AP)—Cold air moving in from Canada brought rain, snow and blustery winds to much of the country today.

Temperatures were down 5 to 22 degrees since yesterday over a wide area from the Ohio Valley southward across the central and south plains. The cold extended to the southern Rockies and parts of the Southwest.

At Las Vegas, Nev., early today it was 43, compared to 65 at the same time yesterday. Rawlins, Wyo., reported two below zero and Laramie, Wyo., three above.

Fayette Countian Involved In Hassle Over 'Corn King'

CHICAGO (AP)—Judges at the International Livestock Exposition will try to pick a corn king for the second time today after a hassle in which the first choice was disqualified.

Two brothers, Arnold and Paul Karsk, of Peconica, Ill., held the corn crown briefly Sunday.

After their 10-ear sample of De-Kalb 822 variety corn was chosen as the best among hundreds entered, a comic - opera situation of quick changes ensued. Two exhibitors complained that some kernels appeared to have been glued on an ear of corn.

At first, the five judges said their choice would be unchanged.
Then they reversed themselves and decided to disqualify the Karsk brothers. For a short time it appeared the championship would be given to the reserve champion, Willard C. Kirk, 48, of Jeffersonville, Fayette County, Ohio, the 1951 corn king.

BUT OFFICIALS again changed tack and decided to judge the entire corn show all over again.

The Karsk brothers, Paul, 67, and Arnold, 64, were not on hand when their corn sample was picked as the best, but reached by telephone at their farm home, both blamed the disqualification on "politics."

Arnold Karsk admitted he had glued several kernels into two ears of corn after they had fallen out.

RYAN ASSERTED that quite often ears of corn are displayed with a few kernels missing, and that it is all right to exhibit corn with missing kernels. He said that on the Karsk prize winning ear it appeared four or five kernels had been knocked off the butt end and then glued back.

Ryan disclosed two other exhibitors had been disqualified because it was found kernels had been glued to some ears. He did not name them but said they were eliminated early in the judging.

Officials said the disqualification was made on a technical basis and emphasized there was no apparent dishonesty on the part of the Karsk brothers.

Weekend Mishaps Take 19 Lives

COLUMBUS (AP)—Thirteen persons lost their lives in traffic accidents on Ohio highways over the weekend.

In addition, five persons were killed by fire and one youth died from carbon monoxide poisoning.
Altogether, 19 accidental deaths were reported in a survey covering the period from 6 p. m. Friday through midnight Sunday.

U.S. Churches Eye Strength But Question Actual Power

BOSTON (AP)—American churches were pictured today as standing at a peak of "tremendous strength" but at the same time groping uncertainly for ways to make that power felt in a topsy-turvy age.

Enormous, swift changes in social patterns and "dangerous moral conditions" challenge the effectiveness of the churches, said a key report to the biennial assembly of the National Council of Churches.

Despite Christianity's gains "in institutional strength," the report said, there is a disturbing question whether churches are "more or less influential in American life" than they used to be.

The report was for presentation to 2,500 representatives of 30 Protestant and Orthodox denominations assembled here to seek new methods for reinforcing their fraternity of faith.

"When we consider how little it costs to be counted among the church members in our country, we are troubled," the report said.

"THE AVERAGE church member is not conspicuously different from the average nonmember. The average church is so much conformed to the world that people are surprised if it sharply challenges the prevailing behavior of the community."

SLIGHTLY UNCOOPERATIVE shorthorn calf, Duke, is tugged to his pen by Tommy Fishbie, 7, of Forrester, Ill., the youngest exhibitor in Chicago's 55th International Livestock exposition, largest farm show in the world. More than $100,000 in cash prizes will be distributed to the lucky owners among the exhibitors of 10,000 head of livestock in the show.

Herald Coupon Tally Ends In Big Landslide

171 Readers Back Senator's Stand; Only 15 Opposed

Pickaway County residents have given Senator Joseph R. McCarthy a landslide vote of confidence in his current controversy in Washington.

Through a coupon printed in The Herald, readers were invited to vote "yes" or "no" on the question: "Should Senator Mc-Carthy be cleared on the current censure charges?"

Following a seven-day waiting period to insure a true cross-section of reader sentiment, the votes were tallied Monday. Of the total signed coupons on hand by that time, 171 favored McCarthy and only 15 were opposed to the senator's stand.

The margin in favor of McCarthy, demanding that he be cleared of the censure charges proposed against him in the Senate, became evident almost as soon as the readers began returning their filled-in forms.

BEFORE LAST week's Thanksgiving holiday, readers were given a reminder on the vote being taken. And the response since that time was a still wider margin in favor of the senator.

A number of readers added specially made ballots to the regular coupons, a privilege that was made clear while the vote was in progress.

In the case of one mailed response, one whole neighborhood appeared to have joined in casting votes for McCarthy. An even dozen ballots in his favor, each with its own signature, were received in the one envelope.

Many readers also added comments in support of their votes.
Typical of these was the following notation attached to a woman's ballot:

"I think Senator McCarthy was trying to do what he thought was right. When they were on television some time ago (the McCarthy-Army hearings) I watched it all the way through. And my opinion is he wants to do what is best for us all."

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—Tentative plans for a second huge electric generating plant in southeastern Ohio were announced today.

The Ohio Power Co. said it is acquiring 650 acres along the Ohio River at Hanging Rock, five miles downstream from Ironton, as the site of a future million-kilowatt generating plant. The plant will be built "when the demand for electric service calls for additional expansion of our facilities," said
Philip Sporn, president of the Ohio Power Co.

Ohio Power officials say when the new steam generating plant goes up it will rank with the biggest in the world.

A new power plant now under construction at Cheshire, near Gallipolis, is of the same capacity—a million kilowatts. It is being built, along with another of 1,200, 100-kilowatt capacity at Madison, Ind., to serve the Pike County atomic energy plant.

There was no word as to what new industry might be expected.

Dow Chemical Co., however, purchased several hundred acres downstream from the Hanging Rock site two years ago and has been experimenting with salt brine found in quantity underground.

Dow officials said last week they have no immediate plans for the site near Hanging Rock.

First units of the Cheshire and Madison plants are scheduled to go into operation early next year.

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)— Chancellor Konrad Adenauer pressed forward today in his fight to rivet West Germany to the Atlantic Alliance after parrying a determined challenge to German rearmament in two state elections.

The chancellor's Christian Democratic Union lost ground in yesterday's voting in Bavaria and Hesse but held control of the Bavarian state government. This insured the Adenauer regime's retention of its two-thirds majority in the upper house of the federal parliament whose members are named by the states.

action against the Chinese Reds—a naval blockade. One of the possible countermeasures reported under study at the State Department was said to involve such a blockade, but diplomatic informants said they found little evidence of support for the idea.

Ultimately, this country's policy in this situation probably will be determined by the President and the National Security Council.

Eisenhower, at Augusta, Ga., for the Thanksgiving holiday weekend, made no comment on Knowland's blockade suggestion. But there were indications the President might have something to say on the matter of the jailed Americans after he returns to Washington. He was due back here late today.

Knowland declared the United States has a moral obligation to "use more than words to protect Americans abroad." He called for the blockade to try to force release of 13 Americans jailed on "trumped-up" spy charges.

White House Press Secretary James Hagerty said Eisenhower would have no comment "at this time" on Knowland's proposals. Nor was there any comment now on pleas from the captives' relatives and others for more than "perfunctory demands."

Hagerty's emphasis on the phrase "at this time" suggested the President is preparing to speak out later.

Dog Licenses Going On Sale

The office of Pickaway County Auditor Fred Tipton has announced that dog licenses for 1955 will go on sale Wednesday at the courthouse.

Licenses can be purchased from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. daily, and until noon on Saturdays.

Cost of permits is $2 for either male or female dogs.

The tags can also be obtained through the mail. To do this, the owner of the pet should send his or her name and address, a brief description of the dog, including age, breed, sex, and color.

The $2 fee and a stamped, addressed envelope must accompany the application.

These actions of McCarthy's, the resolution states, "are all contrary to good morals and senatorial ethics and tend to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute, to obstruct the constitutional processes of the Senate, and to impair its dignity."

"Such conduct," Bennett's resolution adds, "is hereby condemned, and the senator from Wisconsin is therefore censured."

The Senate session was abruptly called off 11 days ago after McCarthy went to Bethesda Naval Hospital for treatment of an injured elbow.

He said the elbow was hurt when a well-wisher, ardently shaking hands, banged it against a glass table top.

McCarthy emerged from the hospital yesterday with his right arm in a sling, saying it was still painful but he was feeling "very well."

McCarthy and his supporters have denied right along any intentions, suggested by opponents, of delaying things so there could be no vote before the present session automatically ends Christmas Eve. The Senate had seemed near the voting stage when McCarthy went to the hospital.

Republican Leader Knowland of California this weekend called on the Senate to reach a decision by Dec. 11, saying he believed there was "a growing demand" for the Senate to dispose of the issue and turn to the consideration of what "more important" matters.

A rally in support of McCarthy is scheduled for tonight in Madison Square Garden, New York.

The event was organized by a group known as "Ten Million Americans Mobilizing for Justice" as a climax to its campaign for 10 million signatures on petitions opposing Senate censure.

Chairman and keynote for the gathering will be Maj. Al Williams, noted speed flier.

The rally sponsors have predicted an overflow attendance of 22,000 persons and the New York Police Department has assigned 400 men to the rally.

Sunday Blaze Nearly Ruins Watt-St. Home

A fire Sunday morning caused an estimated $500 damage to a Circleville house and a similar amount to the household furnishings.

The blaze gutted the three-room dwelling of Roy Quigley, which is located in the rear of 455 Watt St. City firemen were at the scene for 45 minutes.

Fire Chief Talmer Wise said Quigley had been in the process of moving. One load of furniture had been removed from the house, but when Quigley returned the fire had been left turned on while the moving was taking place.

Firemen discovered the stove had already burned through the floor.

The fire, reported at 11 a. m., required the use of the fire department's big 2 1/2-inch line plus boosters.

Ailing Pope Pius Confined To Bed

VATICAN CITY (U)—Pope Pius XII has been confined to his bed and placed on a strict diet. This precaution was taken in the hope of quickly restoring the strength of the ailing 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church.

While Vatican sources emphasized there was no cause for undue alarm, the attitude of the Vatican secretary of state's office was described as "neither too pessimistic nor too optimistic."

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Willard H. (Bill) Rohrer, 58, died last week in Dayton Veterans Hospital.

He was born April 17, 1896 in Pickaway County, the son of Lawson and Mae C. Rohrer. His father survives him.

Mr. Rohrer enlisted in the Ohio National Guard in 1916. He served as part of the Circleville unit with the famed 166th Infantry Regiment of the 24th (Rainbow) Division in World War I.

Besides his father, who lives in Darbyville, survivors include: two sons, Richard, of Columbus, and William, of New York; two daughters, Bonnie, of Detroit, Mich., and Betty Mae, of Florida.

One sister, Mrs. Audrey Boyssel, of Circleville Route 3; three brothers, Leo and Fobes, of Darbyville, and Stanley, of Ashville. His mother and two other brothers preceded him in death.

Friends and relatives may call at the Gossnell Funeral Home, in Columbus, until 10 a. m. Tuesday. Burial will be in Union Cemetery.

Editor-Slayer Strolls Out Of Ohio Pen

COLUMBUS (U)—The man who assassinated Don R. Mellett, crusading editor of the Canton Daily News in the 1920s, made his second escape from the Ohio Penitentiary yesterday by calmly walking past two guards.

Patrick McDermott, 55, joined a party of departing visitors and walked out of a penitentiary honor dormitory in what officials indicated was a well-planned escape.

An automobile which pulled up to the prison just as McDermott walked out with an attractive woman visitor, whisked him away.

McDermott was convicted of murdering Mellett the night of July 16, 1926. The Canton editor was shot down as he put his automobile in a garage at his home. Trial testimony developed that McDermott was sent to Canton by a Massillon man to "beat up an editor."

The shooting of Mellett climaxed a Daily News editorial campaign against police protection allegedly given vice operations.

McDermott crawled over the roof of the warden's residence in front of the penitentiary in 1929 and slid to the ground on a rope. He was recaptured the next day.

When asked how McDermott could stroll past the guards yesterday, Warden Ralph W. Alvis said:

"He just got by them. They should have recognized him." Alvis said he didn't know whether the woman he walked out with was part of the escape plot or "had been used innocently." The visitor registered as Nancy Mack and gave a false Columbus address.

Citizens Committee Will Be Selected

An appearance by Dr. R. M. Eymann, state superintendent of public instruction, will highlight an important meeting, here Tuesday night.

The gathering is for the purpose of naming a citizens committee to study the county school situation. This is required by law in all the counties in Ohio.

The committee will conduct a survey with an eye to possible merging of school districts. Therefore, the meeting, which will take place at 7:30 p. m. in Common Pleas Courtroom, is considered of major importance to all local taxpayers.

RICHMOND, Va. (U)—The Richmond Public Library asked city departments to save their pencil stubs for library purposes. Librarians were puzzled, however, when they received a quart of short pencil stubs from an anonymous donor in Fulton, N. Y., a few days after the request.

40 Penney Co. Employees Here Get Good News

Nearly 40 local employees received the good news Monday when the J. C. Penney Company, nationwide department store organization, announced its traditional year-end payment to the firm's personnel.

The announcement came from the company's New York offices. The board of directors authorized the special payment for more than 50,000 associates in the company's 1,639 stores, offices and warehouses throughout the United States.

The payment will be an amount equal to two weeks' pay for all full-time associates who have been employed for the full year of 1954, and proportionate amounts for extra and part-time associates and those employed less than a year.

George Fuhrman, manager of the J. C. Penney Store in Circleville, said the payment will be made Dec. 15.

"THE ANNOUNCEMENT" comes at a time when we are highly optimistic about the holiday buying activity," he said. "It looks as though we're in for one of the best Christmas seasons we have ever had. The people here are really shopping."

All Penney associates will share in the payment except management staff members whose earnings are determined largely by the company's long-standing profit-sharing plan.

"We are particularly happy to be able to make this payment as a result of what has been accomplished this year," he said. "The possibility of future payments of course will continue to depend upon year to year results."

The payment is in addition to regular company provisions for associates' benefits, including sick benefit, gratuity, death and dismemberment benefit, Thrift and Profit-Sharing Fund plans, discounts on company purchases and others.

Motorist Injured, Pinned Inside Car

A Nelsonville motorist suffered fractured ribs in a Sunday accident just inside Pickaway County.

H. O. Redman, 57, drove into a ditch after hitting another car on Route 56, one mile south of the Madison-Pickaway County line. The other driver, Rhoda Tootle, 77, of Mt. Sterling, was not hurt.

Deputy Sheriff Carl Radcliff and Mt. Sterling Officer Joe Smith report that Redman was going north. He passed one car before the accident. The driver of that car, Robert Connell, of Lancaster, said all he saw was the rear end of Redman's car "fly up into the air" before the auto went into the ditch.

Redman said he applied his brakes when he saw Mrs. Tootle's car attempting to make a left turn from the opposite direction. He was pinned inside of the car and another auto had to be used to pry the door open.

Hal Boyle Says:

Widow Is Bachelor's Dream

NEW YORK (AP)—Madame Olry Roederer is the kind of widow that bachelors dream of meeting. She is blonde, hazel-eyed, warmhearted and highly cultured. She has a mellow, mature beauty that French ladies achieve and wear so well in their middle years. She also has a fine, well-developed sense of humor.

No, Mme. Roederer doesn't own a liquor store. This must be admitted. But, on the other hand, she does have something just as good — five million bottles of champagne. She also has a stable of 120 trotters, and her horses in recent years have been among the biggest money winners in France.

Since the death of her husband in 1932, this pert and vivacious widow has successfully managed the champagne firm of Louis Roederer of Reims and the famous harness racers of "The Stables of the Red Earth."

Mme. Roederer is no figurehead in the 189-year-old champagne firm which ships its vintage products to the courts of Sweden, Denmark, Norway, Ethiopia, Greece and Britain.

In the firm's 3½ miles of caves at Reims are stored five million bottles of champagne, none of which is sold until it is at least five years old.

Mme. Roederer, who can taste and accurately name the major brands of champagne while blindfolded, gives the final voice in the selection of a cuvee, the blending of 1,000 choice casks before the actual bottling.

She has found that being a woman is no handicap in operating a champagne firm.

She spends the week at Reims, the weekends in Paris, where she takes an active role in selling her champagne to the top restaurants

and nightclubs in the French capital.

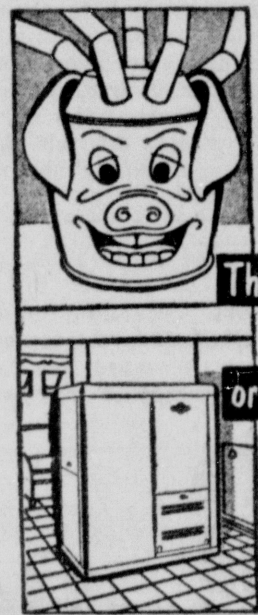

Her interest in the export business brought her here for her first tour of America, just completed. She was accompanied by her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Claude Rouzaud, and the doctor's brother, Andre Rouzaud, who, at 35, is managing director of the champagne firm.

Mme. Roederer found San Francisco the most European-looking of American cities. She was scheduled to tour some California vineyards, but became too fatigued. Asked how California champagne compared with her own product, she hesitated and

Fire Kills 5

PITTSBURGH, (AP)—A flash fire, started by the explosion of a kitchen stove, took the lives of a 93-year-old great-grandmother and four sleeping children at their home in nearby West Newton.

Carl Moore, 9, was awakened by the blast and jumped to safety from the window of the second-story apartment.

CITIZEN ARMY

COURT-MARTIAL of a second lieutenant for allegedly mistreating a group of trainees at Camp Gordon, Georgia, points up the Army's perennial encounter with the discipline bugaboo. The underlying principle in U. S. military doctrine is that discipline be based on respect, not wrought from fear. However, the military has lots of deputies interpreting its doctrine. As the present situation suggests, an overzealous subaltern can sometimes offset the prudent behavior of generals.

The wheels of military justice are constantly turning on discipline matters, with only the more spectacular coming to the attention of the public at large. Such publicity is one of the best safeguards for a nation rooted to the tradition of a citizens' army. In European countries where the military is dominated by the tradition of professionalism, physical and verbal abuse is regarded as one of the conditions of servitude.

No matter how long the U. S. has to maintain a growing standing army, it is to be hoped the needs of discipline never get to the point of overriding respect for the dignity of the individual soldier. If that should ever come to pass, moral self-defeat would be so complete that we might just as well disband the services, there being little left to fight for.

APPEAL OF THE NEW

THAT THE American people are quick to swing to a new product which is deemed an improvement is being demonstrated in the case of automobile tires. The new models now coming off the assembly lines are equipped with tubeless tires, which have been on the market for several years at premium prices. This action by auto manufacturers will result in a great upsurge of demand for the new tires, according to J. A. Hoban, vice president of the B. F. Goodrich Company.

Tires with tubes will continue to be available for those who prefer them, but Hoban is right in predicting a great upsurge in demand for tubeless tires in this country. When a new product makes its appearance that has manifest advantages, the American people switch to it with such alacrity that frequently manufacturing and marketing setups are seriously affected.

Nearly all automobiles manufactured next year will have the same type engine and the same number of cylinders. But some will reveal more ingenuity than others in hiding the cigarette lighter.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Perhaps the most difficult problem to solve is the neutrality of the Asiatic countries. In 1945, all the Asiatic countries were pro-American; in 1954 no Asiatic country can be defined as pro-American except possibly the Philippines. Japan would like to be pro-American but geographic necessities cannot be ignored by a country that can, at any time, be conquered. The mistakes of Teheran and Yalta plague us now.

The decisive factor in the loss of American prestige in Asia was the Korean War which we could have won but lost. There are those, including General Douglas MacArthur, who believe that it was deliberately lost. General George E. Stratemeyer has testified:

"General Stratemeyer. It is contrary to everything that every military commander that I have been associated with or from all of our history—he (MacArthur) has never been in a position where he could not win the war he started to win. That is not American. . . And who did it—I don't know. I know that General MacArthur's hands were tied, I am sure, not by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, but by the then State Department. I make that as my opinion, and I still believe it.

"Mr. Carpenter (Jenner Committee Counsel). Did members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff visit Tokyo quite frequently?"

"General Stratemeyer. Yes, sir.

"Mr. Carpenter. Did they ever clarify the policy that was expected?"

"General Stratemeyer. They did their best to; yes, sir. I do not think General MacArthur was ever satisfied that he had a constructive mission where he could go ahead and win. When I make that statement, I am not criticizing the Joint Chiefs of Staff. They had instructions, I am sure, from higher authority and those conferences were always pleasant. . ."

Further, this colloquy took place: "Mr. Carpenter. What was the effect of the relief of General MacArthur on the command?"

"General Stratemeyer. Well, I cried. I think the whole command, the morale dropped, it went way down, people could not believe it, a soldier could not believe it, an airman could not believe it, a sailor could not believe it. Everybody loved General MacArthur out there and I had never run into a man that served under him that didn't love him, and right out of a clear sky, he gets summarily dismissed. I know the reaction was great with the Japanese, too.

"Mr. Carpenter. There is no question but what MacArthur wanted to win the war; is that not right?"

"General Stratemeyer. That is correct, sir. . ."

He continued: ". . . This was losing our commander who was the most courageous, bravest, senior commander that ever existed, and they fired him summarily without even giving him a chance to say goodbye to his command."

In Asia, "face," which can be translated as abiding prestige, counts for much more than it does in the United States. When General MacArthur was summarily dismissed, not only did he lose face, but the United States lost face. The reason is that it was then believed that the United States shamed its great senior commander to please the British. General Stratemeyer now has testified that this view is correct.

The Inheritors

By JANE ABBOTT

SYNOPSIS
At 86, Josh Trevitt makes his will, leaving an equal share of his rambling farm in New York state to each of his nieces, Mrs. Hester Wilmar, Miss Jenny Todd and his nephew, Tom Todd. But to acquire final title, each must remain three months on the land, those leaving sooner relinquishing their share or shares to the final "resident." Josh also assigns an acre with tiny cottages to Gary Norbeck, a stranger who'd come to live there. Shortly after making his will, Josh falls from a rafter of his barn, and is killed. At a girl's school in Cleveland, Ohio, where she is house-mother, Miss Jenny receives news of her inheritance, and relishes the prospect of living on a farm.

CHAPTER FOUR

HESTER WILMER awakened on the morning of June 2, alive in every bit of her life to the importance of this day. At 2 o'clock the nominating committee of the board of directors of the Athena club was to meet to appoint the club's officers for the coming year. And it was certain in her mind, and in the minds of her friends that she would be chosen unanimously for president. This year the presidency was even more to be desired for the club was co-operating with civic organizations to put on a gigantic pageant in celebration of the 200th anniversary of the coming of the Holland Land Co. to this frontier. It had the responsibility of costuming the cast of the pageant. Though the affair would not come off until August, a committee, of which she was chairman, already was working over designs and materials for costumes.

A glance at her watch told her that Hubert would still be at the breakfast table. Usually he was gone when she went downstairs and, as they used separate bedrooms, she seldom encountered him until dinner time. But it would begin the day as this day should begin—to have this opportunity to tell Hubert, Enid, too, of its importance. He should realize that her prominence in the social life of the city was a definite asset to him in his insurance business. Enid should realize that it helped her, socially, too.

Hers was a home beautiful in every detail and, as she walked down the stairs this morning, it seemed particularly so. "I'll invite a few in for tea this afternoon," she thought and instantly went swiftly over in her mind the ones she would ask to rejoice with her over the honor accorded her.

She found Hubert at the table in the breakfast-room. At her coming he said: "Why down so early?"

Then Hubert said: "Glad you have come down, Hester. Enid. A bill came to my office yesterday from Jaffe's. For a fur coat—$1,000."

"It's for Enid."

"Enid has a fur coat—you have one."

Copyright, 1953,

spring."
"Hester, we've got to go more carefully! We've been living up to the limit of my income these past five years. Where do you think we are going to finish up when all my savings are gone?"

Hester sat very still. To count 10 before she spoke, when she was angry, long had been a practice of hers. She reached five and broke off for Enid was coming into the room.

"Good morning, mother. Good morning, dad." Enid did not sit down. "I had some breakfast in the kitchen a half-hour ago. Just stopped to say hello."

Hester said: "Why couldn't you wait to eat with us, darling?"

"I told Gert Nichols I'd stop at her house before 10."

Hester's smile stiffened a little. She did not like this friendship between Enid and Gertrude Nichols. The girl was nice enough, but she wasn't in Enid's set.

"Enid, it's going to be a beautiful day! I'm not using the car—why don't you call up Martha or Peg and drive out to the club and spend the day. Play some tennis . . ."

Enid said, without looking at her mother: "Gert and I are going to apply for jobs as copy girls at the Evening News! They take extra ones on in the summer."

"What a fantastic idea, darling!" Hester said.

Hubert got up from his chair. "I'll drop you at your friend's house on my way to the office."

"Thanks, dad. I'll be ready in a minute." Enid hurried out of the room.

Hubert said: "Ever thought that you plan Enid's life for her too much? That maybe there's a lot in the old saying against trying to fit a square peg in a round hole?" He went on out of the room without waiting for her answer.

She heard Enid run down the stairs, the door close behind them.

She was not going to let the two of them spoil this day. She finished her coffee, went from the breakfast-room to her study, a charming, glass-enclosed room, at the end of the hall. The morning's mail lay on the desk. Usually she read it before she left anything else occupy her but now she sat at the desk merely fingering the top envelope. For she found staying with her the echo of what Hubert had said as he stood beside her at the table.

"Why shouldn't a mother plan what was best for her daughter?" The St. Agnes Academy here—expensive, yes, but the daughters of the best families in Buffalo attended it; had for three generations. That finishing school in North Carolina—there Enid had had the opportunity of making lifelong friends with girls from old Southern families. The Assemblies here. Enid's junior membership at the country club, her golf lessons, tennis, riding . . . Everything she had planned through the years had been for Enid's good!

Anne Babbitt—Anne was one of the directors.

Each said she would come about half-past 4. Dell Richards laughed. "We'll celebrate."

Feeling calmer, Hester opened her mail—a few bills, two wedding invitations, an appeal for money. She considered each, put it back in its proper pigeonhole and picked up the larger, thicker envelope that had lain at the bottom of the little pile.

Registered, she noticed. From Wickford Middleton in Killbuck, the man who had signed the telegram notifying her of her Uncle Jehoshaphat's death. She had wired flowers.

She broke the flap of the envelope, spread out its sheets. "The Last Will and Testament of Jehoshaphat Trevett."

She smiled—was the old man leaving what little he had to her in appreciation for the letters she had written to him, occasionally from a sense of duty?

But as she read the will she gave sounds of mounting indignation. Live up there in that desolate place—with Jennie and Tommy? Three months—and the pageant in August? Enid's summer to think of? And who was this Gary Norbeck? Certainly no relation. The old man was senile, of course. "I'll contest it. I'll call Robert Drew tomorrow morning and tell him to start at once whatever proceedings have to be taken. The entire property should come to me rightfully—I'm the only one of the family who ever has given him a thought!"

Two o'clock—it would not take the board long to name the officers. Then Anne Babbitt would call her. She dressed for the afternoon, went down again to her study. While waiting for Anne's call she would start a list of guests for a dinner—perhaps next week at the country club.

Her telephone rang. The "Hello" was in Anne's voice.

"Yes, Anne!"

Hester's knuckles were white where one hand gripped the receiver; the other the edge of her desk. But her voice was even, soft. "You were there, Anne!"

"I know it, but what could I do, I argued and argued about it, said, oh, all the things about you. Do you know what their reason was? That you were indispensable as chairman of the pageant committee—that you'd done most of the work on it so far and it would set everything back if you couldn't give all your time to it! But Lydia Holzworth—what's she ever done except read poems at the morning programs? Hester, darling—maybe you'd rather we didn't come in this afternoon. Be honest—I'll call up everyone you've asked . . ."

"How silly! Of course I want you to come!"

"See you later, then. 'By.'"

For instance, he states quite frankly that his grandfather acceded to the throne by the simple expedient of tossing the then king out of a palace window. When the widowed queen remonstrated, Peter's grandpapa promptly tossed her out too. The title of King Peter's chronicle is "Royal Odyssey."

news behind the news

WASHINGTON — Frank Braden, press representative for Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus, has filled in missing chapters of the anecdote I recently described in this column—namely, how Lya Graf, a midge from his show, met the late J. Pierpont Morgan during the Pecora investigation of Wall Street in Capitol Hill.

Writing from New York, Frank says: "Left the Big Show at Jacksonville, Fla., Saturday, and arrived here an hour ago. I find a copy of your Morgan-Midget column before me. Your account clears up the whole episode.

"It tells me at last what happened to Lya Graf after she had reached the corridor of the Senate Office Building, outside the doors of the Pecora Inquiry Committee room."

ORIGINATOR — "You are the newspaperman, although I was not sure until I read your factual account, who made the fabulous stunt really fabulous by persuading Al Nessasen, new Acme man in Washington that forenoon—

June 1, 1933—to bring Lya inside. You got him and Lya into the Senate Committee room, passed the Senate guards, and encouraged Al to put her on Morgan's knee.

"Al was the chap you thought was a 'circus press agent.' Damon Runyon said he was a 'rudy-faced fellow in a brown suit.' Al Nessasen hoped to do was to waylay Morgan when he left the committee room for lunch. We had chalked out the Carlton Hotel, where we knew he was staying."

GRAND DAME — "As I have said hundreds of times in discussing the incident throughout the country, Lya was a 'miniature grande dame.' She spoke excellent English.

"I can understand Nessasen's needing your encouragement and escort. J. P. Morgan was an awesome figure—he had just broken a camera on the incoming Bregaria before his appearance at the Pecora inquiry I had told the photographer that afternoon in the National Press Club that I would not—and could not—appear personally.

"As an ex-midshipman, an enlisted man in the 8th U. S. Infantry and a second lieutenant in the 26th U. S. Infantry Regiment, I had too much awe of senatorial dignity—and of Morgan!"

IMAGINED—Frank errs, however, when he credits Lya with the line, "I live in a tent, sir," supposed to be her reply to Morgan's question as to where she lived. That response was a definite and deliberate, imaginative bit of Ray Tucker's, then a reporter for the New York World-Telegram. It gave color to the story, and it hurt nobody.

The financier knew where she lived because, after I had led her and Al Nessasen to within a few feet of Morgan and his partners, I slipped behind the press table to listen to their conversation. Morgan turned to me and asked where the little creature came from. I told him that she was a midge from the circus, who, being the smallest woman in the world, wanted to "meet the world's richest man."

Perhaps the most enjoyable line in Frank's letter is the postscript: "The Royal Box will be yours when RB and B and B comes to Washington!"

TALK WITH J. P. — Since the publication of my column on how the Midget came to meet Morgan, and my reference to a subsequent interview with him, many readers have asked me what his views were on economic conditions, politics, etc. He forbade me to publish them then, but there is no bar now.

He hated Roosevelt and the New Deal, believing that both would bankrupt the country. But he felt that the United States was so great, so rich, so energetic, that it would survive. He hated American noises, especially the constant ringing of bells. He loved the peace, the quiet and the orderliness of England.

He exploded when I suggested that he was largely responsible for the peal of bells in this country.

"How do you explain that?" he asked.

"Well," I replied, "who but the house of Morgan, with its bond issues, has financed telephone bells, railroad and trolley bells and whistles, door bells and every other kind of bell in the United States?"

"I never thought of that!" he said. "You're quite right!"

WASHINGTON (AP)—It probably will be years before there is an end to segregation in American public schools.

The Supreme Court, ruling last May that public school segregation is unconstitutional and must end, left unanswered for the time being the two key questions: how and when.

The court now can't attempt to give the answer before far into next year. Even then, judging from the court's careful slowness in handling the segregation problem, it is unlikely to call for over-night action.

The court doesn't have to follow the views of President Eisenhower and Atty. Gen. Brownell but no doubt will consider them. Both last week came out for a careful and gradual solution as against a sudden one.

And those Southern states which have given their opinions to the court have called for a gradual approach as a minimum, although Negroes have told the court they want segregation ended no later than September 1956.

A few Southern states in extreme opposition to the court's ruling, particularly Georgia, may try the following kind of device for thwarting any final effort of the federal government to end segregation at all:

End their present public school system and substitute another kind—for instance, private associations—to keep white and Negro children separate. The Georgia voters approved such a plan in the Nov. 2 elections. And Georgia's Gov. Talmadge has said:

"Segregation in Georgia will not be ended at any time."

The Supreme Court ruled against segregation in public schools. An arrangement like Georgia's, supported by public tax money, would be in effect a public school system under another name. Or would it?

Some lawyers here foresee, before there could be an answer to that question, a fight all the way up through the federal courts again to the Supreme Court, a fight which would take more years.

Although the court was first asked in December 1952 to outlaw segregation, it didn't give its opinion until May 17, 1954. This by itself was clear evidence it understood the magnitude of the problem and the need for care in solving it.

The problem is not one but many: the intense and ancient racial prejudices that must be softened or compromised; the planning required in combining schools and school districts; financing; redistributing white and Negro teachers.

The court could have laid down the rules on how and when segregation had to end when it said in May public school segregation is unlawful. But it wanted the benefit of the views of those most closely connected with the issue.

It asked the states involved and attorneys for the Negro groups fighting segregation to explain, in briefs filed with the court this fall, what they thought should be done. The briefs were filed.

The states proposed the take-it-easy course and the Negroes wanted desegregation accomplished by the fall of 1956. The last brief, from Brownell's Justice Department, was given the court last Wednesday.

That was one day after Eisenhower had talked to a news conference of the need for a solution carefully arrived at. No doubt he knew what Brownell was going to tell the court the following day.

Like Eisenhower, Brownell set no deadline for ending public school segregation. It should be done as "quickly as feasible," he said.

And he proposed the high court allow the judges in the federal districts courts in those states which have segregation—to work out the details, and the timetable, with state and school officials.

The court had intended, after getting the written briefs, to let the attorneys on both sides argue before the court in December. Now the court has postponed those arguments until sometime, date still unset, when it has a full bench to hear them. The nine-man court now has one vacancy and Eisenhower's appointee for the job, John Marshall Harlan, is not slated for a Senate vote on his confirmation until next year.

After hearing the arguments the court will consider them, perhaps for months, before finally giving a decision on how and when segregation must end, a decision which may not come before next June.

Grocery Tycoon Takes Own Life

MILLIS, Mass. (AP)—Roger Preston, 54, president since 1947 of S. S. Pierce Co. of Boston, New England-wide grocery and importing firm, was officially listed a suicide today after his body was found in Charles River.

Dr. Harold L. Shenker, medical examiner, pronounced Preston a suicide by drowning. He said he had "six self-inflicted pellet wounds about the face and neck," caused by an air pistol found in the pocket of his jacket.

The wounds were not sufficient to cause death and Preston apparently was alive when he went into the water, the medical examiner said.

The court now can't attempt to give the answer before far into next year. Even then, judging from the court's careful slowness in handling the segregation problem, it is unlikely to call for over-night action.

More Trailers Needed For Yanks

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—Modern trailer camps are to spring up near some of the U. S. Air Force bases in Europe to ease housing problems. The Air Force's $5,000-man force has more than 58,000 wives and children in Europe.

The first 85 trailers have been set up at Toul, France. The current budget authorizes 675. An Air Force spokesman says 3,000 are needed.

Bargain Hunters Cause Elevator Fall

TOKYO (AP)—Two dozen bargain hunters in the Isetan department store rushed past the guards and crowded into the elevator.

The elevator slipped its brakes and plunged eight stories to the basement, nonstop. Nobody was hurt, but Isetan store officials rushed the passengers into a parlor, apologized profusely and gave them each 500 yen (about $1.50) merchandise certificates.

Waverly Atomic Guards Stay Strike

COLUMBUS (AP)—U. S. Mediator George Bell says a tentative agreement reached in negotiations with guards at the Waverly atomic energy plant removes, for the moment, a threatened strike of guard personnel today.

Guards will vote Thursday on a negotiated agreement covering working hours and wages.

The threatened strike had posed the possibility of a general work stoppage at the huge atomic plant.

Today, everywhere, the trend is definitely toward Concrete Masonry for the construction of modern stores, factories, dairies, office buildings, bowling alleys, automobile sales rooms — in fact, any type of building designed for commercial, industrial or institutional use.

Nowhere in the building field are first costs and future costs more important than in the erection of commercial buildings. No material offers so much at such reasonable cost as Concrete Masonry Units which offer all the desirable features found in general home construction. This material is sufficiently flexible and versatile to be adapted to any architectural or structural designs to suit the purpose for which the building is to be used. Discuss the possibilities of Concrete Masonry construction with your architect or builder.

Alliance Pilot Voted Ohio's Coach Of Year

Knowlton Tipped Head Of North All-Stars; Lancaster Chief Cited

COLUMBUS, Ohio (P)—His Aviators didn't win the state championship, but they defeated the team that took the title, and so—

Fellow mentors, sports editors and broadcasters today named Mel Knowlton of Alliance as "Ohio's High School Coach of the Year."

Not only was the Miami University graduate elected the state's No. 1 scholastic coach in the annual Associated Press poll, but in an unofficial, sentiment-seeking ballot, he was a standout choice to pilot the upstate all-stars in the annual North-South All-Senior game next August in Mansfield.

Larry Peterson of Lancaster, whose Golden Gales won nine in a row, was the sentimental favorite for coach of the Southern All-Stars.

The all-star team vote, as recorded in The Associated Press poll, has no bearing on the selections of coaches to be made by the Ohio High School Football Coaches Assn. Only coaches ballot in the official selections for the North and South mentors, while The Associated Press poll includes the ideas of newspapermen, broadcasters, officials and coaches.

Back of Knowlton in the "Coach of the Year" balloting, tied for second place, were Gene Slaughter of Jackson, Peterson of Lancaster, and Virgil Scardina of Cincinnati. Slaughter, all with unbeaten campaigns. Close up were Jim Eby of Greenville, Dan Mormile of Cleveland Cathedral Latin, Gil Smith of Van Wert, Tom Harp of Massillon, Wade Watts of Canton McKinley, Ralph Webster of Columbus East, Bill Pederson of Mansfield, Ben Wilson of Wellston, and Eddie Wentz of Akron St. Vincent.

Knowlton, since taking over the reins at Alliance in 1946 following a 3½-year service hitch, has won 60, lost 30 and tied 2. He enjoyed 9-1 seasons in both 1948 and 1954, each defeat coming at the hands of Canton McKinley. His Aviators were the only team to defeat state champion Massillon this year, winning 19-7.

In the North-South coaching race, Harp and Watts were deadlocked behind Knowlton, tossing the three

25 Outfits Write Perfect Seasons

NEW YORK (P)—Oklahoma and Tennessee State ended the 1954 football season as the top winning teams in the list of 25 unbeaten-united eleven.

The Sooners and Tennessee State each finished the campaign with 10 victories. UCLA and Ohio State were the only major schools, besides Oklahoma, to go through the season with perfect records. They won nine each.

top spots to the three Stark County mentors. Next in line were Smith of Van Wert and Mormile of Cathedral Latin, followed by Ralph Robinette of Youngstown Rayen and Hilton Murphy of Toledo DeVilbiss.

Scardina of Cincinnati Elder was runner-up to Peterson in the southern voting, with Webster of Columbus East third. Joe Carlo of Newark and Slaughter of Jackson were next, followed by Eby of Greenville and Dow Nelson of Worthington.

In a special vote to determine the state's outstanding offensive and defensive players, The Associated Press voted them in this order:

Offensive linemen: John Kompara, Canton McKinley tackle, age 17, height 6-2, weight 214, followed by Darwin Watson of Newark and Ernie Sheeler of Canton McKinley.

Defensive lineman: Ron Lawrence, Cleveland Cathedral Latin tackle, age 17, height 6-2, weight 218, followed by Laverne Banks of Columbus East and Dick Royer of Cincinnati Elder.

Offensive back: Homer Floyd, Massillon fullback-halfback, age 17, height 5-10, weight 160, followed by John Goodrich of Canton McKinley and Tom Barnett of Alliance.

Defensive back: Ronald Toth, Cleveland Cathedral Latin fullback and linebacker, age 17, height 5-10, weight 195, followed by Rubin Sims of Lima Shawnee and Don Clark of Akron Central.

Showdown Due In Minor Loop Franchise Tiff

HOUSTON (P)—The New York Yankees' efforts to place their homeless Kansas City American League franchise in Denver and the St. Louis Cardinals' plan to shift their Columbus club to Omaha reached the "showdown" stage today as the minor leagues opened their annual convention.

With the Dec. 1 deadline for any franchise shift only 48 hours away, officials of the clubs and leagues involved were knee-deep in special sessions and private caucuses hoping to bring baseball's newest headache to some sort of solution.

The American Assn. and the Western League scheduled separate meetings before tangling in a joint session later in the day.

In the meantime, officials of the Yankees, Cardinals, Denver and Omaha clubs were engaged in private conferences.

Realizing that the ultimate decision reached at these meetings and conferences could lead to baseball's greatest realignment of teams, other leagues held off their meetings until the picture cleared.

This much was known: The Yankees want to move their Kansas City AA franchise to Denver, currently in the Class A Western League. The Cardinals are ready to vacate Columbus and switch that AA franchise to Omaha, also in the Western. The Cardinals, incidentally, also own the Omaha franchise. The independently owned Denver club is operated by Bob Howsam.

He said

"...As I recall, the reply (to MacArthur's request for permission to bomb north of the Yalu) stated that they had some agreement with the British not to violate Manchuria without consulting the British. I am sure such signal came in."

In all Asiatic countries the British were disliked because of colonialism and their attitude of racial superiority. Asiatics turned to the United States as a country that did not engage in colonialism, that represented the concept of national independence. When Asiatics were forced to believe by the course of events that the American policy toward them was determined by Great Britain, they lost faith in the United States. This has been true in Korea, Indonesia, India and to a degree in Indochina.

If the United States is to regain its influence in Asia, it must overcome the effects of the Korean War.

Wife's Career Too Important

CHICAGO (P)—A college medical professor, who said his wife told him her career as a doctor must come before that of a wife, has been granted a divorce here.

Dr. Conrad L. Pirani, 38, professor of pathology at the University of Illinois College of Medicine, was granted a divorce from Mrs. Ornella Pirani, 35, a student in Harvard medical school.

Dr. Pirani charged his wife deserted him Jan. 5, 1953.

Browns Give Big Margin For Role In Grid Playoff

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's Browns beat the Giants in New York yesterday and a virtually wrapped up the division title. And had they lost, Coach Paul Brown says he would have taken the blame.

Brown, talking to a reporter after the 16-7 victory, was referring to his decision in the second quarter to go for a touchdown instead of an almost sure three points via the field goal route.

"I should have called it the sure way, but I began to get greedy," he said. "The boys were egging me on to go for the touchdown, and we did."

The Browns, who started on their own 18, had a fourth down coming up with a yard to go on the Giant four when the coach made his decision. They made the first down to the New York one, but two plays later, Billy Reynolds fumbled as he drove into the end zone, and the Giants recovered.

As it turned out, however, the three points weren't even needed. The victory was the sixth straight for the Browns who need victory in but two of their remaining three games to sew up their fifth straight Eastern Division title. The defeat

Three veterans of the Browns' campaigns figured in yesterday's triumph. Quarterback Otto Graham completed 16 passes for a total of 210 yards and scored Cleveland's only touchdown on a sneak in the first period. Lou Groza accounted for the rest of the Browns' scoring with a conversion and three field goals. Horace Gillom did his part with well-placed punts, including one which went for 80 yards and put the Browns out of peril in the third quarter.

The Giants scored in the third period when Herb Johnson caught a punt and romped 48 yards for the touchdown. Other than that, the Cleveland line was more than satisfactory. It held the Giants to only four yards rushing, against Cleveland's 126. New York passing netted only 64 more yards.

Groza started the Cleveland scoring by booting an 18-yard field goal five minutes after the game started. In the kickoff that followed, the Giant's quarterback, Chuck Conerly, was injured and out of the contest.

Orioles Seeking Deal With Chisox

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Sun said today it had learned the Baltimore Orioles have offered catcher Clint Courtney and $50,000 to the Chicago White Sox for the veteran infielder George Kell.

Prior to last season, when he was hampered by a bad back and a knee injury, the 32-year-old Kell had batted over .300 in eight straight seasons and had a lifetime major league mark of .311.

Last year Kell batted .276 while playing for the Boston Red Sox and the Chicago Sox. He played third base for the White Sox under Paul Richards, new Oriole manager.

Lopes makes his eastern debut and if he can get by the flashy Brooklynite, he will be in line for plenty of action on network shows. He has a 23-6-2 record compared to Perez' 30-3-1.

The other Monday night network bout, from Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena, will feature a pair of punching middleweights, veteran Gil Turner of Philadelphia and Young Ray Drake of New York.

for what could have been the tying touchdown when they had been ripping the Middies' line asunder.

Fired with the knowledge that a Sugar Bowl assignment awaited them should they win or even tie, the Middies lacked only a few yards of matching the Cadets in yards gained on the ground and

After the Army had gone ahead on Pete Vann's 42-yard pass to Bob Kyasky, the Cadets came up with one of their questionable kickoffs. This one was an onside kick that went only to the Navy 47. Army thought it could fool the Middies

and get another quick TD.

But short kickoffs were common for the Cadets, even though Head Coach Earl Blaik said it wasn't planned that way. In addition to the onside kicks, kickoffs by Army's Ralph Chesnauskas were so short that Navy was able to put the ball in play on its 38, 41, 38 and 42. The Middies marched to touchdowns after two of the kicks, including the one that gave them a 21-20 half-time lead.

In the fourth quarter came the questionable call of a pass play after an intercepted pass had stopped the Middies three yards short of a touchdown.

Circleville To Participate In Nation's Safe Driving Day Test

Ray Friend Set To Direct Plan For Community

Whole Country Aims At 24-Hour Period Without Accident

Circleville and nearly every other community of any size in the nation will undergo a rigid test the middle of December.

S-D Day—for Safe Driving Day—will be mainly a test for motorists. But to a great degree also it will be a test of each community's public attitude toward traffic safety. Anyone involved in a traffic accident on Dec. 15, the day picked for the nationwide program, can expect to be in the spotlight.

Mayor Bob Hedges has announced that Circleville will participate, and that Ray Friend, of Dartmouth Drive, will serve as director for the test in this community.

Safe Driving Day is being proclaimed throughout the nation by governors, mayors and county officials in cooperation with President Eisenhower's Action Committee for Traffic Safety. The committee is a volunteer group working, at the president's request, to reduce fatalities and accidents on the streets and highways.

Many community and civic organizations are supporting the S-D Day plans launched by the public officials.

TOP PURPOSE of the 24-hour test will be to show that motorists and pedestrians can eliminate traffic accidents by full cooperation, at least for the one day when the country's attention will be focused on traffic accidents and the people involved in them.

Through the dramatic and convincing results thus achieved, the President's Committee hopes to achieve a lasting reduction in the daily traffic toll. For each community, the test will be to remain completely free of a traffic mishap for the 24-hour period.

On a nationwide scale, S-D Day will be the greatest effort ever made to reduce traffic deaths.

President Eisenhower, in his statement explaining the details, said:

"All of us agree with the purpose of Safe Driving Day. It is to save lives and to prevent injuries. No endeavor could be more worthy of our universal cooperation. None is more urgent."

"How can we best do this? Three things are essential."

"Second, let's follow common sense rules of good sportsmanship and courtesy."

"If every one of us will do these three things, Safe Driving Day can be a day without a traffic accident in all of America."

"Last year, when I called a national conference on highway safety, Americans were being killed in traffic accidents at a rate of 38,000 a year. A million more were being injured."

"This year, although we are driving more cars more miles than ever before, the number of deaths and injuries from accidents is smaller. Clearly we have found that it is not necessary to have more and more deaths and injuries."

Cops Help Fireman Save His Pies

DALLAS (AP) — Fireman C. W. Brock, who doubles as cook at Station 36, left in a hurry after an alarm yesterday.

En route he remembered three coconut pies in the oven, baking for supper.

He advised the fire dispatcher, who called the police dispatcher, who flashed word to a patrol car cruising in the area to "turn out the fire in the oven at Fire Station 36."

The house was heavily damaged. Police saved the pies.
